Jap Bombs Rock Singapore

Singapore
Jan. 13 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

By C. YATES McDANIEL

Japanese bomber formations, lashing out ahead of enemy troops only about 150 miles north of this defense bastion, literally shook Singapore today with bursting bombs. Preliminary surveys disclosed that litel damage was done.

Unlike yesterday, when the air battle was fought high in the clouds or at a distance from the city, the 750,000 inhabitants of the island were aware that a battle of the skies was on in dead earnest.

Bomb explosions and an intense anti-aircraft barrage shook buildings in several parts of the city and rattled windows.

(Although no specific targets were mentioned in the dispatch, the Japanese would be most likely to center on the naval base on the northern shore of the 26- by 14-mile island. The proximity of the battle to the city itself, in the southern part, indicated, however, the raiders may also have been pounding Singapore's port section or scattered airfields.)

Other Japanese bombers smashed at British troops atttempting to hold a new defense line after abandoning Kuala Lumpur in a retreat described as carried out with good order and relatively few casualties.

The air assault apparently was designed to prepare the way for a resumption of the overland offensive in which the Japanese have advanced some 300 miles from the Thailand border since they began their invasion Dec. 8.

An official statement said today 225 Japanese planes in all made up three formations which raided Singapore yesterday.

At least six of the aircraft were destroyed, the statement added. No bomb damage was reported.

Abandonment of Kuala Lumpur, important rubber center and capital of the Federated Malay States, was confirmed by the British last night.

Before retreating, British troops were said to have destroyed everything of value which they could not remove from Kuala Lumpur.

American and Filipino artillery batteries have "proved definitely superior" to the Japanese, the War Department said today in announcing that columns of enemy tanks, other armored units and infantry had been "shattered and dispersed" in a 24-hour battle.

Eleven Japanese batteries were silenced and others were forced to fall back under relentless shelling by the American-Filipino guns in defense positions on the Batan peninsula west of Manila bay, the department said.

(The usual artillery battery in the world's armies consists of four guns. On this basis the report from the Philippines would credit the defenders with wiping out 44 field guns, a considerable measure of fire power in the comparatively small fighting area.)

Japanese losses were called "heavy," while those of the defenders were labeled "relatively slight."

ISLAND FORTS GET REST

Japanese dive bombers supported the enemy artillery fire, the communique said, but there were no enemy bombing attacks on the fortifications at the southern tip of Batan or Corregidor island, guardian of Manila bay.

The unchecked pace of Japan's earlier announced conquests had aroused the capital to the grim possibility that the united nations might be forced back to Australia, the last bastion from which a major counter-offensive could be launched in the South Pacific.

This admittedly was taking a long view, but the tide of battle in the Far East had encouraged scant optimism even though Washington had held doggedly to the hope that somewhere in the East Indies the enemy would be brought up short by a serious defeat.

FLANK ATTACK POSSIBLE

In the drive toward Singapore, the Japanese already were in a position for a flanking attack on the Dutch island of Sumatra. Should both Borneo and Sumatra fall, the invaders would be poised for a pincers assault on Java, the strongly defended island which is the core of Netherlands resistance.

There were a number of imponderables in the situation. The Japanese have spread their forces dangerously thin. The Dutch stoutly assert that they can hold out if

Reds Force Hitler to Move South

By the Associated Press

Russia's armies were unofficially reported today to have recaptured the key rail city of Orel, 200 miles south of Moscow, where 200,000 Germans were believed virtually encircled by the southern claw of a giant Soviet pincers aimed at Smolensk.

The British Exchange Telegraph Agency quoted Berlin sources as saying Hitler already had moved his field headquarters from Smolensk, 210 miles west of Moscow, to a city in southern Russia.

(Dispatches from other news agencies interpret this move as a "flight" by Hitler before the oncoming Russians.—Editor's note.)

HITLER BOAST RECALLED

A London broadcast said the BBC "understands unofficially" that Soviet troops had retaken Orel, while other Red forces driving northwest from Kaluga, 110 miles southwest of Moscow, were reported more than halfway on their 90-mile trek to Vyazma, on the Moscow-Smolensk road.

In the north, Hitler's high command admitted the battered Ger-

Japanese invaders have captured the little oil-producing island of Tarakan off northeast Borneo but a stubbornly-fighting little Dutch garrison held them off until all oil-fields and all equipment were thoroughly demolished, it was announced officially late tonight.

Only then, the Aneta News Agency said, did the garrison's survivors surrender.

Large numbers of Japanese had poured into Tarakan, literally overrunning it, and a communique said only remnants of the garrison escaped to the mainland.

This first Japanese conquest of Dutch East Indies territory, however, was made "very costly to the invader," and the Dutch and Allied air forces are continuing to pound the Jap transports and fleet lying off the island, it was announced.

A communique recorded the previously-announced direct hits scored by Dutch army bombers on two Japanese transports off Tarakan. A special announcement, issued after the regular communique yesterday, first had disclosed these attacks in which the Dutch said a

Brazil Set to Join U. S. Against Axis

By ALBURN WEST

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 13 (AP)—United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, encouraged by conversations with Brazil's government leaders, went into an all-day series of conferences with American foreign ministers today to discuss relations between this hemisphere and the Axis nations.

WAVELL IN SINGAPORE—British Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell (left), recently named supreme commander in the southwest Pacific of all forces of the United Nations fighting the Axis and Japan, inspects the defenses of Singapore, great island fortress, with Maj. Gen. Keith Simmons. One of Singapore's big rifles is in background. International News Photograph Service

As the conferences began it was reliably reported the German consulate was burning its papers.

Informed quarters linked this with information that Brazil, with other Latin American nations, is willing to sever diplomatic relations with the Axis.

ARGENTINA BALKS

Though Welles expressed satisfaction over his talks with President Getulio Vargas and Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, there was a possibility the day would produce the first clash of U. S. and Argentine views on the formation of an all-American anti-Axis front.

Argentina's reluctance to enter into any military alliances was regarded as the chief obstacle to unanimous action in the Pan-American conference opening Thursday—and Welles was expected to hold his first meeting with Argentine Foreign Minister Ruiz Guinazu late in the day.

After his first press conference, Welles scheduled 12 more calls, beginning with Foreign Ministers Solf y Muro of Peru, Matienzo of Bolivia and Argana of Paraguay this morning.

MEXICO IN LINE

Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla of Mexico disclosed existence of a Mexico-Colombia-Venezuela bloc to support a move for a Pan-American break in relations with "the nations at war with the United States."

Padilla said "there are three groups in this conference: Those Central-American and Caribbean nations wishing outright declarations of war, the opposite group desiring a declaration of a state

SAVED FROM SAVAGERY BY U. S., JAPS THREATEN TO BE FRANKENSTEIN

By AUSTEN LAKE

Either to deceive the Japanese high command into some act of folly or to acquaint the American people with the full and morbid task that confronts them in their war against the Axis, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox warns bluntly that "no early showdown with the Japanese fleet can be expected."

RESISTS JAPS—Heading the forces in the South Pacific today is Lieut.-Gen. Hein Ter Poorten, commander of the armed forces of the Netherlands East Indies. Today, the Japanese made first drive in his territory at a heavy cost in man power. International News Photograph Service

With what may be a faithful echo of Administration policy, he adds that there is no promise of "favorable, dramatic developments of triumphant, American, full-scale engagements in the Pacific in the near future."

To American ears, accustomed to pre-war descriptions of Japan as a fantastic caricature of mediaeval egotism and a mass-maniac, hell-bent on self-destruction, these words are ominous. They portend a long war, overtured by adversity in Asiatic waters, before America can come to its full destructive might.

"The elements of distance, of time and the necessarily wide distribution of our naval forces," continues the Secretary, "precludes . . . any early showdown with the Japanese fleet."

Knox's revelations, if they are not a nartifice to mask his actual Pacific intentions, may fall comfortingly on Tokyo ears. For he reveals that a major part of the U. S. Navy and marine transportation, so sorely needed in the Pacific, is still servicing Allied war needs in the Atlantic.

"The highways between Britain are open," he says. "We know who our great enemy is. The enemy before all others which must be defeated first is not Japan, nor Italy. It is Hitler and Hitler's Nazis."

JAPS UNDERESTIMATED

Meanwhile, as the Dutch Indies, British Malaya and Philippines cry for men, planes and materials, Japan continues its all-out assault on Allied key positions in the Pacific, pressing the harassed garrisons with masses of troops and warships. The situation is serious, for if Japan is successful the United States will be set back half the distance to its goal line and, at heavy cost, will have to recover the ground lost.

Thus Americans, shocked but not dismayed at Japanese perfidy at Pearl Harbor and what was considered a "suicidal assault" on the combined power of Western democracies, are aware that we are dealing with a cunningly competent

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Jan. 13 (AP)—A large steamship has been torpedoed and sunk by a submarine 160 miles off the Nova Scotia coast within the last 36 hours and survivors reaching here estimated today that 94 lives had been lost. Eighty-nine were saved.

The sinking was nearer the North American coast than any hitherto reported.

Of those rescued, 66 were Chinese and 23 were white. Four white crewmen and about 90 Chinese crewmen and passengers were lost. Most of those lost were victims of near zero weather while

Fireman Dies, 20 Hurt In Cambridge Blaze

Police and fire officials joined today in an investigation of the $100,000 blaze which claimed one fireman's life and caused injuries to 20 others as flames swept the Institutefall building on Cambridge st., East Cambridge, diagonally oppite the Middlesex County courthouse.

The building, a familiar East Cambridge landmark, was totally destroyed, and only the snow on rooftops of nearby structures prevented several other fires. half a dozen other cities sent apparatus to assist the Cambridge firemen after the third alarm.

Wm. Davidson

William Davidson, 53, the chauffeur for Deputy Chief George Church, fell unconscious while fighting the fire from the roof of an adjacent one-story building. Lowered to the street by a rope after members of the rescue squad went to his aid, he was taken to the Cambridge City Hospital and pronounced dead on arrival.

Hundreds of spectators received a thrill when John Tatten, 35, of Ladder 1, was overcome at the top of a ladder resting against the third floor, almost hidden by the swirling smoke.

Feeling the effects of the smoke, he straddled the ladder with his legs and slid down to the ground. His last conscious act, he recalled later, was to wind his legs around the ladder. The slide was automatic. He struck the ground with such force that he suffered a fractured ankle and back injuries. He was taken to the hospital.

Extortion Charge Against Coakley Witness Probed

The Suffolk County grand jury today, under direction af Asst. Dist.-Attys. Frederick T. Doyle and Garrett H. Byrne, began an investigation into the allaged attempted shakedown of a prominent Back Bay woman by a witness who appeared in the Coakley ouster proceedings.

Following the alleged attempt at extortion, which took place several weeks ago, the matter was reported to Atty.-Gen. Bushnell, who assigned State Detective Joseph Ferrari to look into the complaint.

According to information obtained, the alleged extortionist called a Boston man to a downtown Boston hotel and informed him unless he turned over cash, to be used in a divorce suit brought by the man's own wife, the prominent Back Bay woman would be named correspondent.

The extortion victim communicated with the woman, with whom he has been friendly, and she informed her brother, a well-known clergyman. The clergyman was assured, in the presence of the intended victim, that the friendship was purely platonic. The clergyman and his sister then decided to report the case to the Attorney-General.

When the grand jury probe began today, Detective Ferrari brought with him to the grand jury room, as witnesses, the extortion prospect, the Back Bay woman, and a third person, who witnessed the meeting in the hotel and overheard part of the conversation.

The alleged extortionist was an important witness in the Patriarca part of the Coakley ouster proceedings.

U. S. LOTTERY PROPOSED BY KELLY

A national lottery to defray war costs, with defense bonds for prizes, was urged today by Former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly in a letter to Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr.

Kelly declared "many billions of dollars would be taken in by such a lottery and all of this could be immediately used for national defense."

He pointed out that lotteries were held during World War I and last year "to determine the order in which our young men would be drafted."

"Congress once helped finance the Continental Army by means of a lottery and George Washington participated in it."

Kelly referred to the lottery referendum held at the 1940 State election, when Massachusetts voters "by a majority of 8 to 3" instructed State officials to establish a State-supervised lottery, with the proceeds to be used to increase old age assistance payments.

Under Kelly's plan, 50 per cent of all money collected would go to the general treasury and the other half would be distributed as prizes.

"The liberty we hold so sacred was won in part by funds raised through lottery," Kelly said. "Now America can help safeguard that liberty with funds raised by a national lottery."

Urges Small Victory Model Car Production

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (INS)—A suggestion the automobile industry be permitted to manufacture a single, small "victory model" car for civilian users was laid before Congress today.

Arthur Center, Springfield, Mass., auto dealer, made the suggestion before a special House committee which opened its investigation of small business problems with an inquiry into the plight of auto dealers faced with loss of business by curtailment orders.

"Two and a half-million cars are scrapped in this country every year," Center declared. "This scrap, including tons of old rubber, is plied up in junkyards.

"I think that this scrap could be reclaimed, the rubber rehabilitated into serviceable tires, and the industry, or at least one plant, be permitted to turn out a small single type "victory model car."

Fire Injures 3 In Watertown

Three persons suffered minor head burns today while diving through flames which caused $2000 damage to a three-story duplex house in Capitol st., Watertown.

The fire, believed to have started in the bathroom on the side occupied by Mrs. Helen Chamberlain, 52, nearly trapped two aged women and Mrs. Chamberlain's brother-in-law, Egbert C. Beattie.

Mrs. Harriet E. Chamberlain, 76, mother-in-law of Mrs. Helen Chamberlain, was in bed with la grippe, but was assisted to safety by her daughter-in-law, suffering burns when they ran through the fire.

In bed on the second floor was Miss Beatrice Long, 83, a sister of the elder Mrs. Chamberlain. Miss Long also suffered a slight burn in darting through the wall of licking flame.

Beattie, ill in bed, also on the third floor, suffered a burn in escaping the same way.

In the other half of the wooden structure, James T. Roche, his daughter Frances, and son-in-law, Walter Borek, were driven to the street by smoke.

Quincy Woman Braves Flames To Save Invalid

Plunging through flames that blocked her only exit, Mrs. Annie L Bates carried an elderly bedridden invalid to safety today in a fire at their home in Willard st., Quincy.

Mrs. Bates' hair was singed and her face and arms scorched but she successfully shielded 70-year-old Mrs. Annie Wilson.

It was Mrs. Wilson who discovered the blaze. Occupying a downstairs bedroom adjoining the kitchen, her cries awoke Mrs. Bates and her daughter, Mildred, who were asleep upstairs.

Hurrying to the aged woman's aid, Mrs. Bates found her kitchen in flames. She picked Mrs. Wilson up in her arms and carried her through to the lawn. Mildred Bates, meanwhile, had raced to a neighbor to give the alarm.

When firemen arrived they found the three women huddled on the lawn. They took them to the home of neighbors. The fire was confined to the lower floor with a loss estimated at about $1000.

July 1 Car Registration Urged for Revenue

A prediction that 80 per cent of the Massachusetts auto dealers will be made bankrupt by the federal order freezing sales of new cars was made today as the Special State Traffic Committee heard pleas for postponement of the registration date to July 1.

Edward H. Baker, of Belmont, treasurer of the Massachusetts Auto Dealers Ass'n, told the special committee on traffic congestion that 48,000 dealers were "massacred" by the order and that soon there would be few cars on the road.

"Dealers are letting salesmen go," he said, "because they have nothing to sell. Before long there may be a priority rating on used cars."

PLEA IS UNANIMOUS

Called for the purpose of discussing advisability of postponing the Jan. 1 registration date, the hearing brought an almost unanimous plea for such a delay, with most speakers favoring a July 1 registration.

Henry F. Long, state tax commissioner, declared that extension of the registration period to July 1 would result in an increase of $2,000,000 in the gas tax revenue.

Study of the gas tax revenue in 1940 and 1941 showed, he said, a nose dive in sales after Jan. 1 not pulling up to the December level until April.

"I leave you with the prayer," Long declared, "that you will make July 1 the registration date, so that we will receive this added revenue."

PAPER, STEEL SAVING

Richard F. Paul, secretary of the Massachusetts Petroleum Industry, besides favoring extension of the registration dates to July 1, also advocated use of 1942 number plates until July, 1943.

In connection with the save paper and steel campaigns, he asserted the extended use of plates would save the Commonwealth 300 tons of steel and save the insurance companies more than 100 tons of paper used as forms necessary to place the cars on the road.

Experience of 34 states, including the other New England States, has been a definite increase in the use of autos during the winter when the registration date is set forward into the spring or summer, Paul declared.

Other speakers who favored postponed registration included C. S. Borggaard, representing the Motor Truck Club of Massachusetts.

BAD TO WORSE—Peggy Drake of the films, who entered a Hollywood hospital last week for observation, now must remain indefinitely. She's suffering a serious case of pneumonia.

College Farm Girl Is Bride

At Cambridge today City Hall records revealed a blacksmith and a farmer married each other there last Saturday.

This seemed a little peculiar at first sight, but then it was seen that the farmer (bride) was Margaret Neilson of Canaan, N. Y., daughter of former Pres. William Neilson of Smith College, who left her Dad's school five years ago for a farming career.

Miss Neilson, who gave her age as 29 years, married Peter Helburn, 25, of Cambridge. Although the bridegroom is a blacksmith his work runs strictly to shaping metal artistically, and not to shoeing horses.

The bride studied for two years at Smith College, winning a place on the dean's list for scholarship, but after her sophomore year she transferred to the Stockbridge School of Animal Husbandry, a State College affiliate.

NEW TOBIN MOTION FILED TO BLOCK OUSTER HEARING

In another move to block the hearing of ouster proceedings against him, counsel for Mayor Tobin today filed a motion in his behalf taking exception to Judge Vincent Brogna's ruling that allowed addition of two names to the citizens' petition for his removal.

This was the second motion filed by Tobin since the Judge Brogna decision of last Saturday, under which the citizens committee was permitted to add the names of Ethel M. Williams and Edward C. Monahan.

His first motion, filed yesterday, objected to and questioned the right of the appearance as counsel for the petitioners of Judge Emil Fuchs, former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly and Atty Albert West.

Prefaced by the same legal verbiage as yesterday's motion, in which mayor's counsel pointed out their client was not "waiving any rights" and was not "submitting himself to jurisdiction of the court," today's motion stated:

"Without waiving any rights, and not submitting himself to the jurisdiction of the court, the respondent, appearing specially and solely for the purpose of presenting this motion, takes exception to the ruling of Judge Vincent Brogna allowing the addition of the names of Ethel M. Williams and Edward C. Monahan to the citizens' petition."

Addition of the two names gave the petitioners a total of seven signatures, two more than the number required to make their petition legal.

Next move on the part of the petitioners is hearing of the petition asking for the removal of the mayor, based on charges that the corrupt practices act was violated. Chief Justice John P. Higgins must appoint three judges to hear the charges.

2 Former Reds Named to U. S. Defense Posts

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (INS)—Two men at one time prominent in numerous Communist "front" organizations have been appointed to important national defense positions in Washington, the New York Journal-American said it had learned today. They are:

Malcolm Cowley, former literary editor of the New Republic and one-time editorial board member of the Sunday Worker, Communist organ, now chief news analyst for OPM's division of facts and figures at $8000 per year;

Joseph P. Lash, former national head of the Communist-dominated American Students' Union, now a member of the advisory executive committee of the youth division, Office of Civilian Defense.

Cowley, a well-known figure in various left-wing literary movements, supported Communist candidates for office and was a member of the League of American Writers' national board. The league, controlled by Daily Worker and News Masses writers, was organized in 1935.

What Fate for 1065 Heroes of Wake?

By JAMES R. YOUNG
Noted Author and Far East Expert
(Written Expressly for International News Service)

What has become of the 365 United States Marines who were on the island of Wake, and what is the fate of an estimated 700 or more civilian workers?

Two American planes have scouted the brushy and lonely island of the Pacific and report not a person could be seen.

Have the Japs taken their prisoners of war to a South sea mandated island? One report of an increase of marines interned in Peking does not jibe with the assumption that the Wake island captives are in North China, for the distance is too great and the concentration camp there inadequate. Internment in the South Pacific would be preferable to detention in cold North China when those Mongolian and Siberian winds sweep through, bringing 20 and 30 degrees below zero weather.

Exclusive

FISH CHIEF PRISON DIET

The marines landed at Wake four months before the Japs started their siege. The workers, most of them from Boise, Ida., arrived a year ago.

They established quarters, a ball ground, administration buildings and open air theater. Once they did not see a ship for two months when food supplies ran out, and civilian workmen, many of them young men from Idaho's potato and onion country, lived on fish. All water was distilled. Tonight, somewhere in a Jap internment camp, they are living on fish.

I have heard from many relatives and friends of the Idaho men. Hardly a family in Boise without an acquaintance or school or college chum who went to Wake. They ask of the probable treatment and locale of the incarceration.

JAPS' INTERNMENT CAMP

Those youngsters and the fighting marine had five planes and a handful of five-inch guns, some anti-aircraft equipment and machine guns. They not only kept the Japs off two full weeks, but they inflicted great losses on the invaders.

To those in Boise, I join in the hope that their men are safe and warm.

I doubt if they have been taken to Formosa or China. They should fare better than the Americans in Peking, Shanghai or Manila.

Concentration camps in China are at Peitaho and near Shanghai, for the Japanese built them last summer in anticipation of war with the United States.

Americans and British at Manila are en route to internment this week. Japanese internment camps will be spotted from North to South China, remote places in Indo China and Thailand, with one large camp in Manila.

F. D. Calls Willkie To Be Labor Umpire

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (INS)—President Roosevelt summoned his 1940 presidential opponent, Wendell Willkie, to the White House today to urge him to serve as an umpire for the newly-created war-labor board.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said the conference was arranged because Willkie's name is high on the list the President has compiled for service in arbitration cases which the board will handle.

"I happen to know Mr. Willkie's name is on that list," Early said. "I don't know whether he will be offered the position today but I assume he will.

"This, however, is not the sole purpose of Mr. Willkie's call."

On leaving the White House later, Willkie refused to discuss his visit.

A 12-man war labor board was established under presidential order to adjust labor disputes for duration of the emergency through voluntary or compulsory means.

William H. Davis, chairman of the new high court for labor-industry disputes, said the board "will meet and go to work as soon as the members can convene."

Japs Running Short of Dive Bombers?

By JOHN HENRY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (INS)—Japan's failure to launch its big push in the Philippines with dive bombers was accepted today in Washington military circles as evidence that Japanese aviation power is numerically insufficient for the Mikado's war against the ABCD powers in the Far East.

Experts explained that Japan was expected to open the "all-out" onslaught in Luzon with an unceasing sky assault. In contract, the invaders chose to attack Gen. Douglas MacArthur's ground defenses for three successive days without appreciable aid from the air.

Tacticians said Japan probably was forced to divert planes previously used in the Philippines over to the Indies invasion. They explained that while air power would be an important adjunct to the Luzon offensive, it was an imperative need in the Indies attack, where bombers covered Japanese landing parties.

HITLER PICKS MUNICH FOR SHRINE FOR NAZI HOMAGE AFTER DEATH

By PIERRE J. HUSS

Copyright, 1942

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—People don't know it yet, or at least the secret remains that of a few dozen around him, but Hitler has drawn blueprints of "Fuehrer House" in Munich, to fasten that mystic hold of his on the people within Germany after he dies.

This blueprint, if ever it materializes with a German victory, visualizes a great square in Munich on the spot where the city's present central railway station is located. All these tracks, all these rambling low buildings of the station, and scores of big hotels and buildings immediately facing it will vanish.

From the huge square emerging here would unfold an avenue of majestic proportions leading straight through the city to the historic street and square down which he and his brown-shirted Nazis walked in 1923, to meet a blast of machine guns and therewith the end for another 10 years of their beer hall putsch. It is to be an avenue with an arch such as only the Caesars dreamed of.

As Hitler designed it with that ever busy pencil of his, a great squat and square mausoleum is to rise in the exact center of that Munich square, forming the basic mantle of a gigantic square column to rise some 700 feet into the air. On top of that column is to stand a great Nazi eagle holding the swastika in its claws. The spread of the wings, according to the specifications, from one tip to the other would measure 225 feet.

LIKE ROMAN TEMPLE

Columns and pillars, like the Roman temples of old, would provide the chief architectural relief to the eye in the vast structure of the mausoleum.

Inside, and thus actually inside the holy column above, the sarcophagus of Feuhrer I of the Third Reich would stand on a high pedestal. It would be a masterly work of German stone and artisanship simple in its exterior design but impressive to the eye.

Here, amidst the eagles and flags and wreaths of Nazidom, guarded day and night by steel helmeted men who marched with him or the sons who come after them, Hitler could lie and keep his hold on the masses.

As far as I know, he had not yet definitely decided whether it would serve his purpose best to follow the method of Lenin in Red Square in Moscow and give the pilgrims to the shrine a glimpse of himself through a glass aperture.

There are many around him who believe that mystery and the unseen are more powerful than the opposite.

This school feels that with a glass aperture the crowd filing past naturally would stare only through the glass and fail to get into the spirit of its surroundings. In fact, they say, the average man or woman in an eager and excited state of mind at seeing Fuehrer Hitler through the glass probably would never notice anything else.

HUGE TORCHES TO BURN

There is also an idea for huge torches to burn in eternal flame of red fire, the smoke being drawn off through special air filters, but giving off a touch of incense.

The soft blue light always filtering upon the tomb of old Emperor William I in Berlin—so famous and effective that tourists from all over the world used to make a bee-line for it—also has come into consideration. There would be a special sound-proof floor, carefully designed to deaden the footfalls of the passing crowd and thus to preserve the glorified silence.

Leading into and away from the shrine itself would be the doors into the various ante-chambers comprising in part the museums and exhibition rooms of the things held most sacred to Nazidom. There could be seen, in one section of the structure, all the uniforms and personal things used by the Fuehrer in life.

The boots, the hats, the caps, the shoes. In a special glass case the Iron Cross he won in World War I.

HITLER'S PAINTINGS

Another case would show the Fuehrer's pen and ink sketches and the watercolors drawn by him in the lean and hungry days before the World War and later in the trenches, sold for a pittance until he came to power, when the price for each of them went sky high, and the Nazis combed out all art shops and attics in the hope of raking up every last one of them.

HITLER
Plans Shrine in Munich

Pierre J. Huss, for eight years Berlin manager of International News Service, today tells how Hitler has prepared blueprints of his own mausoleum, to occupy a square in Munich and designed to keep his mystic hold on the German people after his death.

Those and the designs for his highways and Nazi edifices now standing around all over Germany as laid down on paper by him will all be in a glass case in that exhibition room.

WHY MUNICH WAS CHOSEN

The idea would be to let the visitor see for himself the Fuehrer as he was in private life and as the leader, always stressing the simplicity and the miracle of this man.

It is natural that he should choose Munich instead of Berlin for his final resting place and as the spot best adapted to the plan in mind. His Brown House of early days still stands there as a decade ago; alongside of it, facing the great Koenigsplatz, he has changed everything by building the temples to his 16 dead killed in the putsch of 1923 and also the Fuehrer House, a lavish edifice now used by him for official receptions and as headquarters down south of the Nazi Party.

In Munich also Hitler still has that private little apartment of his over a former garage in one of the side streets. That is where he lived when money was short and times were uncertain.

HOTBED OF ANTI-NAZIISM

Hitler clings to Munich like a desperate man in love with the wife he is losing. That is the whole irony of it, for the saying goes in Germany that Black Bavaria harbors more Nazi-haters and Hitler foes per square inch than all the rest of the Reich combined.

The hotbed of this anti-Naziism is without question Munich itself, where the stolid Bavarian of largely Catholic faith and the more liberal-minded artist and student class shake hands under the table against the Nazis.

Perhaps more has happened or almost happened to Hitler in attempts on his life in Munich than anywhere else, to mention only the bomb blast in the beer cellar of 1939 or the shots from windows as he drove through the streets not many years ago. Even the trains he arrived on have had accidents.

Despite it all, Hitler has that fatal love for Munich and Bavaria, perhaps because it is close to his own Austria, and therefore he has chosen to lie after death in the midst of that city to keep his mystic hold on the Germans.

That is, if his luck holds out and the war he is fighting doesn't end with him in flight and his Third Reich in ruins.

Tomorrow will begin the strange story of the rise and fall of Karl Boemer, "big shot No. 4" in the Nazi Reich.

He Gets New Tire But It Requires O. K. of 2 States

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—The State of New York and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts joined forces to permit Norman Fisk Shiler, Athol, Mass., to purchase a new tire in Rochester.

Gardner W. Stacy, Rochester rationing administrator, said Shiler first applied to the local board to buy a tire here. Before receiving the certificate, he had to get permission of the Athol board. Now says Stacy, Massachusetts will have to give New York a tire.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Bridgewater's Free French Soldier Hero Home From Syria

This is the story of a fun-loving American college boy who became one of the oustanding heroes of the Free French forces.

Lieut. Hasey

He is Lieut. Jack Hasey of Bridgewater, only American officer of the Free French Foreign Legion and holder of the "Order of the Liberation" highest award of the Free French.

Today, the 25-year-old soldier arrived in New York from Syria and tomorrow he returns here to undergo treatment for his partially lost voice.

He will also undergo a plastic operation to restore a section of his chin shot away by machine-gun bullets on the Syrian battlefield.

Dressed in his natty Free French Foreign Legion uniform, Jack—the first Free French officer to visit the United States—today told of his exploits since he left Columbia University in 1937 to go to Paris. His proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hasey, smiled bravely as he talked with difficulty because of a steel tube inserted in his throat.

Hasey joined the French army in 1940 and was induced to drive an ambulance. With Steel Powers of Atlanta, Ga., he formed the first American ambulance corps.

The outbreak of the Russo-Finnish war found Hasey at Helsinki. While driving an ambulance on the Lake Ladoga front a "Molotov breadbasket" found its mark and Jack became the first American casualty of the war. His arm was broken in two places and not long afterward, frostbite, suffered in the 50 below zero temperature in Abo, cost him all his toe-nails but one.

He came home to recuperate but returned to France, later with France enslaved by the Nazis, Jack joined the DeGaulle forces.

Hasey described his experiences as an officer with the Free French Foreign Legion.

"Those Italians fight like macaroni," he said as he described the capture of the Italian-African stronghold of Massawa. "Our battalion which numbered 400 fighting men took 11,000 prisoners after thre days of fighting."

It was in the Syrian campaign that Hasey won the Croix de Guerre with palm after he led a historic bayone charge at Damascus.

Later he became the first American casualty in the Syrian campaign when bullets ripped his neck, jaw, chest and hand.

Hasey said he had no plans for the future but he hoped to offer his services to the American Army.

Enough Wool Saved In Style Change for 500,000 More Suits

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Here's a good reason why double-breasted coats because of the war need to conserve wool, may become as scarce as overcoats that button up the back.

The yardage saved in eliminating the overlap in men's double-breasted suits manufactured annually in this country would be sufficient for 500,000 additional single-breasted suits.

12 SENSATION IN MALAYA IS NEAR, BRITISH HINT

By JAMES E. BROWN

LONDON, Jan. 13 (INS)—British authorities were silent today over Singapore reports that some new, sensational development is pending in Malaya.

First hint of "something new" was contained in a Reuter's Singapore dispatch, which said:

"It is learned an important announcement can be expected at any moment which may change the Malayan situation considerably in Britain's favor."

Amplifying the conjecture was a Tokyo dispatch to Vichy, admitting that British resistance in Malaya is increasing and that British and Australian replacements are being sent to the battle lines. Some authorities, however, believed it may be only a feeler put out to ascertain composition of the British forces.

PRESS CAUSTIC

These hints came at the moment press criticism of the manner in which the campaign was handled approached its most bitter point, both in England and Australia.

The London Daily Express sounded a new peak in criticism when it commented:

"It becomes clearer daily how much Japan owes to a crop of incompetent British windbags . . .

"There is only one place of any size remaining to be captured in Malaya—Singapore itself . . .

"The British public is humiliated."

AUSTRALIA CRITICAL

The London Evening News said:

"Parliament and the country can do with a little less of the plea that Hitler is the main enemy. So he is, but he cannot be evoked as an automatic excuse for all the blunderings and illusions of Singapore."

Australia's bewilderment was reflected by the Melbourne Herald, which said the Australian people were grave and puzzled as "messages continue to emphasize the paucity of British air power and the overwhelming superiority of the Japanese on the ground."

afloat on rafts and small boats.

Although Japanese submarines have operated within sight of the United States west coast and submarines have been reported within sight of Newfoundland, this is the closest sinking that has occurred in the battle of the Atlantic.

Many of those lost died on rafts and lifeboats.

Dennis P. Carroll of Southampton, Eng., one of the survivors, said the ship went down 20 minutes after she was hit by a torpedo on the starboard side about 7:40 p. m. and by a second torpedo soon after from the port side.

One of the men lost, an Irish naval gunner, was thrown overboard by the first explosion and the second torpedo struck him before it hit the ship, one of the survivors reported.

Five boats and six rafts got away, but David Hughes, of Vancouver, one of the survivors, said out of 39 Chinese on one raft only one was alive when a rescue ship arrived.

F. D. Calls Price Bill Inadequate

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (INS)—President Roosevelt today in no uncertain terms told key Congressmen he feels the Senate version of the long-awaited price control bill will be inadequate to check wartime inflation.

Ranking members of the House banking and currency committee, who attended a White House conference, said that the Chief Executive warned them that prohibitions against setting farm price ceilings at below boom year levels might cause a general increase in the cost of living followed by continuing demands for general wage increases as well.

direct hit also was scored on a Jap cruiser.

It said the Japanese dropped 30 heavy bombs on Kolonedale, an east coast port on the Island of Celebes, injuring a non-commissioned officer, and later bombed Ternate on the Island of that name, killing 15 civilians and wounding 24.

Copra—dried cocoanut meat—and several warehouses were set afire and buildings in the center of the town also were burned. Ternate, a trading center of the Molucca group of islands in the East Indies archipelago, is across the Molucca Sea from Celebes

Authoritative quarters said it was rumored the Japanese threw in more than 20,000 troops against the Tarakan garrison, but they said it was a question whether the real story ever would be known.

"It may be that soon information will be received from the members of the garrison who succeeded in reaching Borneo's vast mainland, if they manage to get to the civilized world," these quarters said.

"In this connection it should once again be pointed out that Borneo is one enormous jungle in which no living soul exists for thousands of miles, so that the survivors of Tarkan will certainly have a hard time to reach one of the other Dutch outposts on the east coast of the island.

BRAVE FIGHT BY DUTCH

"There is no doubt that the comparatively small garrison which held the little volcanic isle fought bravely for two days, but the heavy odds in men and material were against it.

"Because of the interruption of the radio communications in the early stages of the assault, nothing is known here or at headquarters of the Netherlands Indies forces at Bandoeng about the course of the battle, but it is known that the Japanese poured in troops and literally overran the place."

reinforcements arrive, particularly in the air.

REINFORCEMENTS ON WAY

Anglo-American reinforcements are reported en route, although there has been no hint as to their air strength.

However, the disposition in many quarters of the capital was to face the worst possibilities squarely on the theory that if the worst did not happen, so much the better.

Australia has one big advantage that cannot be duplicated anywhere in all oceania. Its great land mass provides space for as many air fields as are necessary, for the "down under" continent is 32 times the size of the United Kingdom, or about the area of the continental United States, minus Arkansas or Iowa.

OUT OF JAP RANGE

Main bases in southern Australia would be out of the range of Japanese aircraft, and the bombers could be ferried to advance bases in the north to take off on offensive missions Retention of present bases in Burma, plus the Australian fields would permit long range Allied bombers to strike at Japan throughout the South Pacific war zone.

They could also be the starting point for air-borne invasion thrusts in a counter-offensive. If Java could be held as an Allied spearhead, so much the better.

Australia also has four British naval bases and there is a fifth in nearby New Zealand. Three of the Australian bases are in the south, but the four at Darwin in the north would be neutralized to a great extent by any complete Japanese victory in the Netherlands Indies.

Daylight Saving Pact Reached

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (INS)—Congressional leaders today reached an agreement for passage of the House-approved daylight savings bill, which orders clocks advanced one hour, the order to take effect 20 days after the bill becomes law.

The Administration, it was stated, agreed to drop the Senate bill, which would have given the President discretion to move the clocks ahead two hours. Final action on the measure is expected by tomorrow night, leaders said.

ALLIES PLAN TO POOL ALL WAR GOODS

By DAMON RUNYON, JR.

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—The united nations plan a gigantic "pool" from which their war materials will be allocated by an international board to the country needing them most for the all-out effort to defeat Axis powers.

The first step which will be announced publicly in creation of the pool will be formation of a joint Anglo-American-Canadian materials board, to be headed by W. L. Batt, now chief of the OPM's materials division, to handle emergency needs of the nations battling the Axis, according to informed sources.

The united nations then will get together in conferences to decide which nation needs certain war materials—guns, planes, tanks, etc. The conferences are expected to result in a possible reorganization of the entire lend-lease administration setup.

At present, a bitter controversy rages behind the scenes in Washington between Harry Hopkins, presidential confidant and Lend-Lease administrator, and War Department officials over administration of the program to aid countries resisting Axis aggression, reliable resources reported.

Hopkins, according to these officials wants a lend-lease administration with a great deal more power than it now holds. The lend-lease administration at present merely recommends measures which are subject to approval by the War and Navy Departments, the Maritime Commission and other governmental agencies which actually do the work.

Japan Saved From Barbarism by U. S.

adversary who weighed his war values and risks long in advance with the cold calculation of a horse gambler staking his all on one solid chance.

AWAKENED BY U. S.

American military and American people, as a whole, underestimated the mettle of the Japanese, whom they knew as a nation with a monkey-like knack of imitation, the trick of infringing on other nations' patents, and the capacity for flooding rival markets with cheap goods. They had beaten big, graft-rotten Russia during the Czarist regime and have wallowed futilely for four years against the Chinese. Much of their navy was antiquated. Their stocks of raw war materials were limited. Their finances were shaky. As a military nation they were still untested and according to Western standards reckoned a hollow shell.

Some of these premises were, and are, true. But the notion that Japan is not a tough, hardship-stiffened nation of vicious, fatalistic killers, is not true. Its history shows that, and Americans may well begin to study that history to get a true conception of the virtues and vices of the type of people with whom they are dealing.

Indeed had it not been for the high pressure "salesmanship" of President Franklin Pierce in sending Commodore Perry and an American fleet to pry off Japan's self-sealed lid, the islands of Nippon might only now be emerging from age-old catalepsy and be as harmless as an unshucked oyster.

Perry and the American Marines did it in 1854 after Japan had existed for 200 years in a self-imposed vacuum, as remote from contacts with the outer world as a Martian planet. Since 1638 no foreigner was permitted to set foot on Japanese soil and no Jap was permitted to wander abroad or possess any boat larger than a fishing smack

PERRY SAILS IN

For 200 years, or 35 years longer than the life of the United States, Japan remained outside the main current of history, existing in a picturesque state of feudalism enlivened by internal blood enmities in which 5 per cent of the population, the samurai, or fighting men, tryannized without restraint the rest of the population. The "5 per cent" today, composed of the army and navy hierarchy, still tyranize the remaining 95 per cent, who do their will without question.

In that pre-Perry period all Japanese common people knelt when a noble passed; to betray the slightest disrespect was to risk being slashed to death by his samurai. The elect classes lived lives of romantic adventure without one redeeming gleam of novelty; they loverd, murdered and pursued fine points of honor while the 95 per cent labored hard and unimaginatively, scratching bare livings from congested areas and breeding like guinea pigs. They still do.

In 1837 a ship bearing a strange

SECRETARY OF NAVY KNOX
'Navy's Task Enormous'

device of stars and stripes sailed into Yedo Bay with some Japanese fishermen she had picked up in the headlands. The ship was driven away with cannon shot, for, primitive times that they were, the Japs had learned about gunpowder from its original inventors, the Chinese, and possessed a few crude cast-brass blunderbusses.

President Pierce, himself a romanticist with a strain of the rural conquistadore, was intrigued by the stories of the mysterious, padlocked islands reported to be stored with fabulous riches. He summoned the hero of the Battle of Lake Erie and suggested a cruise, to which Perry, spoiling for adventure after a long layoff, agreed enthusiastically.

After some months of stormy passage Perry appeared in a Japanese harbor, with his gun ports open and his sights trained. Japan, having no power to resist, listened to his proposals for trade and intercourse and signed a treaty under the watchful eyes of 500 U. S. Marines.

It was a fantastic sight, as the white clad sea-soldiers marched, muskets at the slope, through the incredulous, kimonaed Jap crowds, none of which had ever seen a white man before or knew anything about the machine or scientific marvels of the western world. Their craftsmanship in handworked metals and loom-spun fabrics was of a fine order.

MADE AMAZING STRIDES

That was only 51 years before Japan defeated the world's largest nation, Russia, with a modernized navy, equal in precision and standard to most of the European fleets, and an army that was drilled and equipped as precisely as any of its western neighbors. The Russians, badly led and dishonestly equipped, were beaten on sea and land.

It was an amazing record. In two generations of 25 years each, Japan had emerged from a total cultural blackout to the full suntide of world competence, dispelling the pursuasion that Asia was in some irrevocable way hopelessly incapable of mastering European methods. By comparison she had made European progress seem sluggish.

In the years that have intervened one curious trait of character has been glaringly apparent. The Jap has invented virtually nothing. But as a copyist and imitator he has filched and adapted every European and American device to his own needs and in cutthroat competition with the inventor nations. Thus the aerial torpedo, launched from airplanes, was a U. S. discovery, neglected by our military experts.

HITLER ON RUN, REDS DECLARE

man armies had been thrown back to the Valdai hills, starting point of last October's German drive against Moscow which Hitler boasted would be the "last great, decisive victory" of 1941.

The Nazi high command also reported quickening action on the southern (Ukraine) front, where the Red armies of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko are driving to recapture Kharkov, the Russian "Pittsburgh."

German troops on reconnaissance raids east of Kharkov were reported to have killed 219 Russians and captured 93

On the North African front, Hitler and his Axis ally, Mussolini, suffered a new blow as British troops were officially reported to have recaptured the desert town of Salum, on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier. There Axis forces had held out as a threat to communications of the British counter-invasion into Libya.

ATTACK ON MALTA LOOMS

The capture of Salum tightened Britain's encirclement of hold-out Axis troops in the Halfaya sector.

Between 7000 and 8000 Axis troops were believed to be isolated in the area near the Egyptian-Libyan border.

More than 300 miles to the west British vanguards have reached the road from El Agheila, on the Gulf of Sirte, to Merada, a desert city 70 miles to the south, "along which general line the enemy appears to be preparing to make a stand," Middle East headquarters said.

Amid these reverses in Russia and Libya, Hitler was reported sending heavy German reinforcements into southern Italy for an attack on Malta, British stronghold in the central Mediterranean

Badly needing a victory to bolster his tattered prestige, the Nazi Fuehrer apparently looked on Malta as a "ripe plum" ready to fall after months of incessant day- and night bombing.

Official U. S. Communique

The text of the morning communique, number 57, based on reports received up to 9:30 a. m, (E.S.T.):

"1.—Philippine theater:

"In 24 hours of continuous artillery fighting, American and Philippine batteries, proved definitely superior to those of the Japanese. Columns of enemy tanks and other armored units, as well as infantry concentrations, were shattered and dispersed by our fire, with heavy Japanese losses. Our counter-battery fire was particularly effective. Eleven hostile batteries were silenced. Enemy artillery elements have now been withdrawn well to the rear of the positions formerly occupied. Losses to American and Philippine troops were relatively slight.

"Enemy air activity was confined to attacks by dive bombers in support of artillery fire. No enemy bombing attacks were made on fixed fortifications.

"2—There is nothing to report from other areas."

Thirty Years of Serving Delicious
HAMBURG STEAK

DO YOU MAKE A HABIT, as so many people do, of glancing over the tables as you approach our serving counters to see "what looks good" on our bill-of-fare of the day? It's a common custom. We see it over and over again every mealtime.

• And, as you do this, are you not sometimes astounded at the number of people you see all eating Waldorf hamburg in some form or another . . either hamburg steak, as patties, in a sandwich, or in some other way so popular with folks around these parts?

• The time of day seems to make no difference It's an every-hour-of-the-twenty-four meal we serve all year long . . . breakfast, luncheon, dinner, and in between times.

• Not long ago, an old friend of mine remarked upon this fact. "You must grind hamburg by the ton," was his observation. "And because it is always so tender and juicy, I imagine it is not only the good cuts of beef you use, but the freshness enters into that fine flavor."

• He was just right. Good hamburg is not as easy to produce as it sounds. The meat must be good, of course, and it must be free from too much fat. But even the best, from the finest meat cuts, soon loses its delicious fresh flavor unless it is carefully taken care of, and served at once.

• So the fact our butchers seldom, if ever, are caught up on their work, assures the freshness. We know the meat is the best there is . . . and thirty years of cooking and serving it has taught us a lot!

Children Civilian Defens Wards

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT
National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

WASHINGTON, MONDAY—In the current issue of Parent's Magazine they give their second annual report on the nation's children.

There is a general recognition of the grave responsibility of providingour children, in this war crisis, with the services necessary to preserve for them in the future, the thing for which we today are fighting.

The four freedoms will not mean much to them, if they are told that we have preserved them for them, unless they are able to use those four freedoms.

You cannot be a citizen in a democracy and feel confidence in your ownability to meet the future, unless in your childhood, the basic needs of every child are met, regardless of war conditions.

The carrying out of this program to achieve this 'end, lies largely in the hands of the Children's Bureau, and the different health and welfare projects under Administrator McNutt.

BUT I THINK it is the responsibility of the Office of Civilian Defense to see that the needs are recognized.

They must have the backing of people in every community so that the defense councils will recognize the importance of meeting them.

Such magazines as Parent's Magazine can do a great deal to bring before the public the needs of the children and the reponsibility of the public towards those needs.

I hope hat many other magazines and publications will also recognize this responsibility.

I MUST TELL you that the pageant on the contribution of the Negro people to the history of the United States, as given last night in the performance called "Salute to Negro Troops," presented by the stage, screen and radio division of the Fight for Freedom, Inc., was most moving and thrilling.

Any citizen of the United States must have been proud when Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln, each came on the stage and spoke their own message to their people, who loved democracy and liberty.

It carried into one's heart an emotion, which must translate itself into a greater devotion to accept the challenge of this war, and to make of this nation the example which the founding fathers envisioned, but which we have never completely carried out.

Good Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

SILVER WEDDING DINNER

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have been invited to attend a silver wedding anniversary dinner to be given in a private suite of a hotel.

1—What is the correct thing for me to do when I arrive, and what shall I say to the couple whose anniversary it is?

2—How shall I present the gift of silver I am buying for them? Shall I take it to the reception with me, or should I have it sent to their home? SALLIE.

1—When you arrive at the party, an attendant will direct you where to leave your wrap, and then you go directly to greet your hostess and your host. It is important for a guest to remember that he or she should not tarry to talk with friends before greeting the hosts at a party of any kind.

A silver wedding anniversary is such an important and happy occasion to talk about that talking about it is just what you should do when you greet your hosts. For example, you might say something like this. "I am so proud to be invited to be with you both on this wonderful occasion. Congratulations tonight . . . and my heart full of best wishes for your happiness in all the years to come."

2—On the particular occasion of a wedding anniversary, the guests usually bring their gifts. That's part of the festivity of the party!

ROMANCE

Wearing Heart on Sleeve Frightens Suitors

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

LAST SUMMER I became acquainted with a likeable young man whom I had been wishing to meet for some time. I went out with him several times and he came to call, but all of a sudden he stopped seeing me. One of my girl friends recently spoke of him and said that I took him too seriously and that he cared for me only as a friend. As I really love this man, I feel terribly hurt and can't get interested in another man.

BERTIE.

We've all got to learn what's known as "playing the game." Not the least important among the rules is the one about not wearing your heart on your sleeve. It's too bad you let this young man see how much you cared for him. He probably isn't in a position to marry, and is scared to death at the prospect of having a girl hang on his every word.

The next time you meet him, be natural and don't show you care. Try to show an interest in someone else, even if it's only assumed. That would be a good thing and might bring him back. Let him get the idea that you are going around with someone else. If he loves you, he will return.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

A CERTAIN BOY, four years older than I am—23 years—has been taking me out about once a week for a few months now I think a great deal of him, but only as a friend and there'll never be anything serious between us.

He is one of those boys who likes to kiss all the girls. He says it's just a pastime to him, but I don't like it. What can I do to get him to stop this without losing his friendship? He is a good friend of my brother's, and is the first boy who has ever dated me.

M. T. R.

Don't you really think that kisses should be something more than a pastime? If a boy kisses every girl he knows, it strikes me as pretty cheap. Why not try to educate him into having a few higher ideals?

"WOMEN AT WAR"

By INEZ ROBB

In London

Throughout America — ever since the Pearl Harbor attack roused the nation—women have been asking,

"What Can I Do To Help?"

Inez Robb has written the answer in a special series telling what Britain's women are doing and what America's women can do, in—

"Women at War"

IN TODAY'S DAILY RECORD

OFFICIAL AIR RAID RULES

What to Do
What Not to Do

This war is not like any other. It may reach your street—your home—at any moment. You may be fighting in this war tomorrow, or next week, or next month. Your government asks of you one simple thing, but one very important thing . . . Learn and remember what to do if enemy planes and bombs come.

You Will Be Warned

A vast network of watchers is on duty 24 hours a day along the Atlantic Seaboard. The moment enemy planes are spotted moving in your direction, these watchers will set in motion the whole machinery of protection. You will hear short, quick blasts on a siren or whistle in your neighborhood, or you will hear bells ringing steadily for at least two minutes or you will see your street lights go out. Probably the radio stations will go off the air. However, leave the radio turned on. When danger is past the siren or bells will sound the "all clear" and it will be announced on the radio.

Your Biggest Job

There are many things you can do to protect your family and help your neighbors if an air raid comes, but nothing is so important as to keep your head. It may not be easy to do, but it is your biggest responsibility . . . your real job. You will do your job better if you read and reread the instructions printed here. Best of all, memorize them, and make certain every member of your family knows them as well as you do. If you will do this, you and your property will be much safer than if you don't know exactly what to do.

GET TO KNOW YOUR WARDEN

You should know by sight and by name the Air Raid Warden in your block at home, and in the building where you work. Be prepared to help him by seeing to it that you and every member of your family are prepared to do exactly what he tells you to do in case of a raid. He has been trained and is still being trained to protect you. He will be your best friend if bombs drop.

The rules are Simple—REMEMBER THEM

If you are at home Get your family together in the safest room in the house. Shut off your gas stove, gas refrigerator and other gas appliances. Turn out the lights in rooms not blacked out—and above all, stay away from windows. It is a good idea to open the windows if the weather is warm. If you hear bombs nearby, open windows anyway. DON'T go outdoors.

If you are on the street Go home if you can WALK there in a few minutes. Otherwise, get off the street and into the best shelter you can find. Get into or close to a large building,—but be sure to avoid large windows, particularly plate glass show windows. DON'T join any crowd you may see. If it is dark, DON'T light matches and DON'T smoke.

If you are at school You will have to do no more than you usually do at a fire drill. Do EXACTLY WHAT YOUR TEACHER TELLS YOU TO DO.

If you are in a street car or bus The operator will try to stop near a good shelter. Go into it and stay there until the all clear sounds.

If you are in an automobile Drive into a side street if you can. But wherever you stop, park at the curb shut off lights and ignition and seek shelter. ABOVE ALL THINGS don't speed, and don't drive toward a congested area.

If you are in a church, theater or other public gathering Stay where you are unless you are told specifically to do something else. You will be safer where you are than on the street.

If you are at work WALK to the safest part of your building, usually the middle floors. Stay away from windows and elevator wells. Turn out the lights if there is a chance they can be seen from the street.

If you are not near shelter and hear bombs falling—Lie face down on the ground with your head on your arms. Cover your head with your coat.

A FEW GENERAL SUGGESTIONS

Use your common sense. Locate shelters wherever your daily routine takes you. Remember that direct hits are few. The greatest danger is from shattered glass and flying debris. With a little forethought, you can avoid these. Remember that everyone will help during a raid and that you will not need an introduction to seek shelter from a householder or in a business building.

JUST A FEW DON'TS

Don't lose your head. Panic hurts more people than bombs.

Don't try to get very far from where you are when an alarm sounds.

Don't delay in taking simple precautions to protect your house from fire.

Don't invent special rules of conduct for yourself and your family. Those listed here have come out of real experience in England. Others make for confusion and panic.

Don't go into a Boston subway for shelter—they are not safe from bombs.

Don't make telephone calls.

Don't get the idea that Civilian Defense is the job of someone else. Find a job for yourself, after you have made your own home secure . . . and do it, NOW!

A WORD ABOUT BLACKOUTS

When air raids come, you must expect a blackout order, either by radio or from your Air Raid Warden. It is not too soon to think about what you must do.

Unless you think you will want to sit in the dark, prepare one room in your house for general air raid and blackout purposes. Blanket the windows or cover the glass with opaque paint. Stage a rehearsal. Be sure that not a single gleam of light can be seen from the outside. Always have on hand and ready at a moment's notice whatever you plan to use in order to hide your lights.

THINGS TO CHECK UP

Have you cleaned out your attic, and taken your Warden's advice about sand and water for fire protection?
Do you know how to shut off your gas and electricity?
Have you got a flashlight?
Has your warden helped you pick out the safest place for your family?
Have you set aside a jug to hold drinking water to use if your main hasts or is shut off?

AND FINALLY—Have you gone over and over with every member of your family what to do when a raid alarm sounds?

MAKEUP FOUNDATION LUBRICATES DRY SKIN

By ARLINE GOULD

IF YOU'VE NEVER used a makeup foundation before . . . and you have a skin which verges on dry rather than oily or, perhaps, normal regularly but dry in the winter because the wind and overheated atmosphere do such a job on it . . . shame on you for an unnecessary slight to your own beauty ambitions!

You . . . however . . . will be all the more thrilled by the change that can be wrought in 60 seconds . . . through application of the proper kind of makeup base . . . one that's unique for the moisture it GIVES to a dry skin, and KEEPS on the surface in a satiny film.

It's a cream so mist-like it's almost a liquid.

Anyone who's had some success with makeup foundations perhaps won't be quite as thoroughly thrilled by the transparent softness this mist-thin cream gives . . . but we do know she'll be amazed at the way the petal-fresh texture of the skin lasts through day and evening, with none of the familiar papery dry look that was beginning to haunt her vision in compact and dressing table mirrors.

It's news, this foundation lotion-y cream, because for the first time ever it is available in a $1.50 traveling size . . . somewhat more available, you'll admit, than the original $2.50 bottle.

What it actually does for you . . . is to act pretty much the way a night lubricant does . . . repelling any element which might dry out your complexion, and repelling any makeup from entering and clogging the pores.

Many foundations give an effect of smoothness and softness to the skin . . . but it's the rare makeup base which absolutely prohibits drying-

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

• FOOD •

By Martha Lee

ONE OF THE SUREST ways to prevent waste is right at the table, by not crowding plates with food which may not be eaten. Ask "do you want some?" before serving any portion. Have food on the table in big serving dishes. Abandon individual servings for the help-yourself style. Make it possible for your guests to turn down dishes without hurt feelings. Let's get back to old-fashioned table service with all the family doing their own "digging in."

It's a simple little thing to do but it will help prevent table waste and keep the garbage can empty. Makes fewer dishes to wash, too—and may even revive some of the old-fashioned homey dinner atmosphere of our respective childhoods.

Cutting down rejects or left-on-the-plate dishes begins with the preparation of the food itself. Here are some simple dishes everybody likes—serve each of them in one big dish.

BRANBURGERS

1 egg
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. minced onion
1 tbsp. chopped parsley
1¼ cups milk
1 cup all-bran
1 lb. ground beef
10 slices bacon

Beat egg, add salt, pepper, onion, parsley, milk and all-bran. Let soak until most of the moisture is taken up. Add beef and mix thoroughly. Cut slices of bacon lengthwise into two strips. Arrange two strips bacon crosswise on waxed paper. Mold generous tablespoon of meat mixture into pattie and place on bacon intersection. Bring strips together on top of pattie, skewering with toothpick. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) about 30 minutes or broil about 20 minutes. Remove branburgers from pan. Add some milk and seasonings to drippings. Thicken slightly to make gravy. Makes 5 servings, 2 branburgers each.

SERVE BRANBURGERS "family style" to avoid waste.

SPICED MUFFINS

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tsp. all-phosphate baking powder
¼ cup sugar
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. cloves
¾ cup chopped Brazil nuts
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
¼ cup melted shortening

Sift together dry ingredients. Add chopped nuts. Combine beaten egg, milk and melted shortening. Add to dry ingredients, stirring only until flour is well moistened. Fill well-greased muffin tins 2-3 full and bake in a hot oven (400 deg. F.) for 20 minutes. Makes 12 muffins. To serve, place in a napkin on a warmed bread plate and pass at the table.

BANANA VEGETABLE SALAD BOWL

Wash and dry carefully one or more varieties of fresh crisp salad greens and arrange attractively in a salad bowl. Add long strips of fully ripe bananas. Garnish with celery curls, onion, radish roses, wedges of tomato or strips of carrot as desired. Serve with Fruity French Dressing.

FRUITY FRENCH DRESSING

¾ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. dry mustard
¼ tsp. paprika
¾ cup salad oil
3 tbsp. grapefruit juice
3 tbsp. orange juice
2 tsp. sugar

Measure all ingredients into mixing bowl or glass jar. Beat with rotary beater or shake to mix thoroughly. Shake or beat again just before serving. Makes 1 cup.

SHRIMP FOR MENUS

Canned shrimp are thrifty and make menu novelty inexpensive and easy. You can pick your own size—jumbo, large, medium or small—because they are canned in all those four sizes. Shrimp is packed in "No. 1" cans, which hold from 5 to 5¾ ounces, or about one cup of shrimp.

The Correct Thing

DON'T EXCLUDE HIM!

Of course you're delighted to meet the girl you haven't seen in a long time, but don't chatter about mutual interests . . . completely forgetting your escort who doesn't know (and maybe isn't interested in) the episodes, persons and "past history" you're discussing.

Fashion

PLAY CLOTHES with flare and flattery always come in a bumper crop out of California. Here's one of the newest California designs, a three-piece playsuit worn by Madaline Lee of CBS. Perky bow knots of gray and white print on yellow pique make quite the prettiest and most youthful of models, with trim shorts beneath the very full skirt.—ANNICE BRINK.

SLIM DRESS BENEATH SHIRT NEW SPRING MODE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

AN ENSEMBLE that is being introduced for spring, and that will be very high and exclusive fashion, is the loose short coat and the slim dress. Or you may find it under the title of the long, loose jacket and the slim-line dress. Whatever it's called, this kind of thing will be worn by very discriminating women over the nation.

The coat, which for early spring is being made of fleece in the new soft and flower-like colors, makes a wrap to wear over many dresses as well as over the dress it is mated to by the designer.

Anthony Blotta is one of our top designers who likes this sort of ensemble, and the one in the sketch is his. It is composed of a short, loose coat in Wedgewood blue fleece, and a very simple slimline crepe dress of the same color. The coat has a big motif of white embroidery on the left side of the front, a design taken from Wedgewood china.

Listen, World!

COWARDLY TEARS

By Elsie Robinson

YOU'VE LOST someone who gave you all the sweetness and meaning in life. And your heart is broken. Terrible days! You wake, you sleep, you go about your work. It's all the same. You're in a daze of misery—drugged by sorrow. You're as truly dead as that dear one who has gone. You're sure that life will never come back again.

And you don't want it to come back. You don't want to live with your darling gone. But it does come back. Without your knowing it, without your willing it, against all your desire, life comes back. Creeping slowly, rising softly, in a tide, life comes back. You have an appetite again. You can sleep.

You feel a stirring of interest in a new hat, or the latest football score. You haven't forgotten love—your grief is just as great. But life has taken hold of you again. Life is needing you, clamoring for you, demanding that you take your place.

There are the old responsibilities to be taken up again. There is that new duty which you have avoided, which your friends have helped you avoid, during your black hours. They're waiting for you.

Reluctantly you realize this. But you turn your face away. You don't want to take up those responsibilities again. You don't want to come back into life. Why? You say it's because your heart is broken. And you believe that.

YOU BELIVE it because you want to believe it. Unconsciously, grief has become a convenience!

It has become an escape from people and things you do not want to face. It has become an alibi for selfishness, and laziness and cowardice. If you did not have that grief, if you laid it aside bravely, you would have to mingle with the world—you would have to face competition and criticism. But grieving, you can lock yourself away, you can hide your sororw And no one will dare condemn you for doing so.

"Poor Sally," they'll say, "she's never been the same since Billy died. It's wonderful, and tragic, to live like that."

And, hearing them, you'll not only feel excused, but you'll feel that you are set apart by your great disaster; that you're not like other people; that you should be pitied and honored because you cannot, will not come back into life.

THE TRUTH is you deserve neither pity nor honor. Chronic grief isn't beautiful—it's cowardly and contemptible. You've no more right to use grief as an escape than we have to use alcohol or morphine or gambling. Broken hearts are not a rare, personal calamity. They are part of the common lot and should be borne as such.

It's bad to pity broken-hearted people too much or too long. It's bad to let them pity themselves. I know. My heart was broken and people pitied me. It nearly made a bum of me.

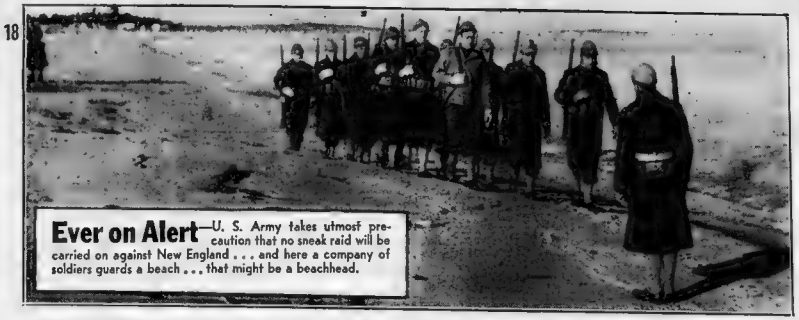
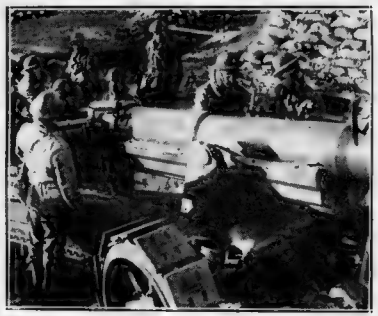
NEW ENGLAND GIRDS FOR DEFENSE . . . .



Ever on Alert—U. S. Army takes utmost precaution that no sneak raid will be carried on against New England . . . and here a company of soldiers guards a beach . . . that might be a beachhead.



Big Guns—Well sprinkled along New England's shore are great, mobile 155-mm. seacoast guns . . . which can shoot many miles out to sea with rare accuracy.

Snowy Gunning

Cold wave and snow give Army gunners an opportunity to strut their stuff under chilly conditions . . . and after a few afternoons of such maneuvers as above and at right, they are prepared to give a chilly welcome to any Nazi or Jap invaders who might call. The photos show graphically how the Army is prepared to turn the whole coastline into an armed camp . . . with machine guns sweeping every inch of the shore.

These pictures, taken by George S. Woodruff of International News Photo[s] tell the story [of New England's]

OUR DAILY CITATION: To the Fore River Shipyard and its many employes for completing the new 6000-ton cruiser U. S. S. San Diego six months ahead of schedule. America remembers Pearl Harbor. Here is glowing proof.

MR. JOHN F. CAHILL, vice-chairman of the Democratic State Committee and former Commissioner of State Armories, says that more than 100,000 tons of steel rails, abandoned with the displacement of old trolley car routes, are lying unused under the countless repaved roads throughout Massachusetts and should be torn up for use in war production.

These rails, he further says, are made of the best quality steel, which could be converted into ten heavy cruisers, 3000 medium tanks, 7000 light tanks, or thousands of guns, bombs and shells.

At the present time the metal is serving no useful purpose. In the form of modern military weapons, it might mean the difference between victory and defeat on one of the war fronts.

We hope our defense officials will seriously consider Mr. Cahill's suggestion, for it is obviously too sound to be ignored.

Nothing will be accomplished by arguing that these rails should not have been buried or covered with asphalt when the trolley lines were abandoned years ago.

The important thing is that precious metal is available NOW to persons who have the patriotism and determination to exhume and USE it.

WEATHER REPORTS can be helpful to the enemy in wartime, particularly when the reports are broadcast by radio stations.

The following quotation from the "Army and Navy Journal" illustrates how seemingly harmless news may be dangerous if it reaches the wrong ears:

"The commanding officer of a Naval base in the Atlantic heard a news weather broadcast specifically mention subfreezing weather conditions in the Dakotas and a temperature of nine degrees below at Duluth, points remote from the coast and apparently not concerned with naval or military operations.

"Being weather-wise the commanding officer immediately concluded that in a few days hence his patrol area would have a clear day or two with high visibility and conditions ideal for enemy submarine attacks.

"Special precautions were taken in patrol work on the calculated day, which turned out as predicted, and in the course of operations it became apparent that enemy submarines had also picked up the same information and made the same deductions."

DEFENSE NEEDS are making new automobiles as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth. Therefore, everybody wants to make his car last as long as possible.

For this reason, the advice of Mr. Thomas P. Henry of Detroit, Mich., distinguished president of the American Automobile Association, will be widely read and followed.

"Speed is the greatest form of waste in motorized transportation," Mr. Henry says.

"Speeds too fast for conditions are responsible for the vast majority of traffic mishaps. Wrecks are bad enough at any time, but at present a pile-up means demolishing a car that cannot be replaced.

"Moreover, speed wastes gasoline and oil; it chews up rubber in your all but irreplaceable tires, and it hastens the time when your vehicle becomes junkyard bait."

With no fear of contradiction, Mr. Henry might well have added:

"Speed is the arch-enemy of human life in America."

It is the principal cause of the nearly forty thousand deaths that result from automobile accidents each year in this country.

"NO WITCH HUNTS" is the promise and pledge of Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge, who recently told a radio audience:

"If law enforcement officers were to start jailing people merely for what they think, say or write, such officers would experience terrific difficulty in devising standards by which to determine what kind of criticism should be permitted and what kind should not be permitted.

"The safest and most effective way to counteract the misguided mutterings of the relatively few people who have not joined with us heart and soul in our mighty effort to win this war is by intelligent and vigorous reply to such people's talk."

That is practical common sense. We are going to crush Hitler by following the democratic methods that have made us the greatest nation the world has yet known; we can hardly expect to do it by borrowing the German tyrant's vicious practices and putting them into execution here in America.

On The Side -1- -1- By E. V. DURLING

Had we never lov'd sae kindly,
Had we never lov'd sae blindly,
Never met—or never parted.
We had ne'er been broken-hearted.
—BURNS.

OF THE ABOVE four lines, Sir Walter Scott said they contained: "The essence of a thousand love tales." . . . It is well to remember at this time that a United States billion is a thousand million while a British billion is a million million . . . A nation is known by its proverbs. A Japanese proverb is "Who can speak well can lie well" . . . Noted painted on side of station wagon in Los Angeles, "Wegotno Ranch" . . . In times of war life is made very difficult for Army deserters. On Oct. 23, 1917, two Army deserters from Camp Mills were sentenced to 10 years at hard labor in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. There is no reason to believe sentences for desertion will be any less severe in this war.

SIDELIGHTS: Have you an invention that might help win the war? Get in touch with the National Inventors' Council, Justice Department, Washington, D. C. This department has announced it "will give full consideration to any idea that might be useful to the armed services regardless of how fantastic it may seem at first glance" . . . The first radio broadcast in the United States was a record program. On May 13, 1914, records were broadcast from Wanamaker's New York store to the firm's Philadelphia store . . . The fourth Liberty Loan drive of World War one resulted in 20,000,000 buyers of bonds . . . If Helen Morgan's best song wasn't "I Can't Help Lovin' That Man," what was it? I liked Helen singing "Only a Paper Moon" nearly as well.

PAPA AND MAMA: Recent questioning of thousands of youngsters is reported to have revealed 95 per cent of children like their mother better than their father. There have been similar questionings in the past, but the percentage against Papa has never been so high. The explanation generally advanced as to why Papa is not so popular as Mama with the kiddies is because he has to do the disciplining. And also because many mothers threaten their children for misbehavior with "I'll tell Papa on you." The Papas of America should organize and demand the mothers handle more of the disciplining and also that they cut out that "I'll tell Papa" stuff.

SAYS SHE: "I never worry or feel self-conscious because I am a tall girl," says cinema cutie Alexis Smith. She is five feet, seven inches in height and therefore actually not a tall girl. All the "tall girl" social organizations require members to be at least five feet, 10 inches tall. Miss Smith also said: "I wouldn't fall in love with a short man." Love, according to all experts on the subject, is not voluntary. You can't turn love on or off at will. You fall in love with who nature tells you to. In many cases the person nature tells you to fall in love with does not completely respond. For this latter unfortunate state of affairs I have no explanation at present, but have ordered our Horses and Women Research Department to make a study of the matter.

ASIDES: Note a case in which a male defendant was tried by a jury of one male and 11 females. Has always seemed to me a male should be tried by an all-male jury and a woman by an all-female jury. Or perhaps both men and women should be tried by juries having six of each sex . . . An interesting bit of California legislation is that stating if 75 per cent of the barbers in a city or county agree on a minimum price for a hair cut no barber in that community can charge less. There seems to be a disagreement throughout the nation as to what the price should be for a hair cut. I think the price of a hair cut should be 50 cents, and the price of a good hair cut 65 cents.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Added to the list of corporations in the great state of Pennsylvania is the Oriental Dancers of Pittsburgh, Inc. Who remembers the Coney Island attraction known as Fatima, the muscle dancer, of whom the barker said: "She moves every muscle in her body!" . . . In World War One the Germans first asked for an armistice on October 5, 1918. When President Wilson, to whom the plea was directed, questioned the authority of the source the reply made was: "The offer of peace has come from a government, which free from any arbitrary and irresponsible influence, is supported by an overwhelming majority of the German people."

SAYS HE: A railroad president "urges" the public to avoid grade crossing accidents. He says these accidents hinder the work of the railroads in national defense. Evidently the old boy seeks to put all the blame for grade crossing accidents on the public. If the railroads built under passes or the State governments took some of that gasoline tax money and built under passes there would be no grade accidents.

ELSA MAXWELL once observed: "Heavy women command more attention than thin ones and usually have more friends. They're not such bores always preoccupied with clothes. All fat women should wear black." Miss Maxwell is five feet, three inches tall and weighs 215 pounds.

MARGIE HART

A STONE'S THROW FROM BROADWAY: In all the clamor about the Main Stem's new Cinderella girl, petite Evelyn Wycoff who opened last night as leading lady of "The Lady Comes Across," I don't believe anyone has mentioned how she happened to be chosen for the role. When Jessie Matthews became stricken, Georgie Hale thought of Mitzi Green, who is a song-selling asset to any stage. Mitzi couldn't accept because of other commitments, but she suggested they audition a girl who had understudied her in "Babes In Arms" but never got a chance to perform—a girl named Evelyn Wycoff. And so that old Warner Brothers musical plot came to life again.

TIMES SQUARE CUFF NOTES: Fefe's Monte Carlo went astonishingly bucolic the other night by throwing a turkey contest, with entrants from the farms of Amon Carter and Paul Mazur. Some very pretty chickens attended, too—among them Ann Graham, Adele Jergens, Irene Denham, Phyllis Brooks, and Louise Stanley . . . Margie Hart, the stripteasuese, made her first tour of the swank East Side spots the other night, and when she was settled at the Ruban Bleu, Herbert Jacoby asked her if she'd be kind enough to take a bow. "Please, no," the red-head's companion swiftly interposed. "Miss Hart is shy."

ALL AROUND TOWN: Crown Prince Olav and Crown Princess Marthe of Norway dined quietly at the Rainbow Room the other evening, attended by only one couple and dressed in street clothes. They applauded every act in the show, impartially, then noiselessly departed . . . Josephine Antoine, of the Metropolitan Opera, made an entrance with six handsome men. Pretty good in these days of beau-shortage!... Edith Kingdon Gould, one of the most glamorous of the post debs, danced in shiny black with Francesco Junero, a dashing mustached Cuban—and apparently the Latins are still saying it with orchids . . . That Jack Pearl is still a comedian, don't let anyone tell you otherwise. At the Cub the other night he nonchalantly dead-panned to two radio performers:

"Say, what about that flash I just heard over the air. The government's taking over the networks after March 1—no more commercials."

When the other actors had turned sufficiently white, Pearl confessed that he was spoofing.

FABLES FROM FIFTIES: You've seen Garson Kanin pictures—("Tom, Dick and Harry" most recently) and you know how the boy in a Garson Kanin picture always meets the girl in a funny way. No regular introduction by a friend, no "Ginger I would like you to meet George my friend in the bank." Nothing like that. It has to be different; it has to have a "twist" or a "Kanin touch."

Well, the Kanin touch operates in real life, too, even far from Hollywood. As witness the fact that Gertrude Niesen received a Christmas card from Garson, whom she had never met, so she sent him one with a message that perhaps his to her had not been intended for her. And he wrote back:

"Dear Miss Niesen, I received your greeting complete with scolding. So you don't know me. So I don't know you. So I think I'll kill myself. I am a fan of yours and wherever it says "Gertrude Niesen" on the outside, I always go inside."

He explained that the card had been intended for someone else—a Miss Claire Niesen—but that he would consider the resulting correspondence a proper introduction and certainly felt entitled to send Gertrude greetings of any kind in the future.

So that is how Garson Kanin met Gertrude Niesen, mail order method, and I for one intend to follow the scenario closely from now on.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

UNTIL THE HOUR of going to press, no announcement had come from some enterprising nightclub in Boston advertising "Special: Shaslik and vodka" . . . And tonight is Russian New Year's . . . Alexander Kerensky, once the topman of all the Russias, will celebrate in New York, glued to the ticker of the News Center restaurant—where he passes a great deal of time . . . Baby Rose Marie, no longer entitled to the diminutive, is such a hit at The Mayfair that she'll be held over another week . . . Julia Barbour, the Boston social register listing, will follow Rose (I can't call you Baby, baby) Marie at the Broadway bistro . . . The unusual feature of this repeat booking is that for the first time in the cafe's history, the management has given a six-weeks' contract. (This will excuse us from the boring necessity of making known that Miss Barbour has been "held over") . . . Consuming personal ambition: To answer that affected, but clever, young hambo-producer who signs himself off the radio with "Obediently Yours," by wiring: "Obey this then. Stop the soft con and be yourself."

JOHN HOYSRADT TOLD OFF a pest at the Ballinese Room (where they have them too) . . . "Pay no attention to him, ladies and gentlemen," John advised the audience as the pest kept heckling him. "The poor man drinks just to forget—to stop drinking."

TWO EXPENSIVE SHOWS WHICH beguiled Boston audiences over the New Year holidays closed abruptly in New York . . . Charlie MacArthur's "Johnny on a Spot" folded after four performances . . . John Shubert, producing his initial baby, demonstrated considerable courage in ringing down the curtain on the MacArthur play . . . Producers often let their pride interfere with their business judgment, and it is the upkeep as much as the initial cost that makes flops expensive . . . "The Lady Comes Across," mired in bad luck since the day rehearsals began, closed Saturday after three performances . . . "Papa Is All," which many seemed to think held real promise while playing here, isn't conceded much of a chance, either . . . Of the 23 shows on the New York boards last week, 15 had played Boston . . . Some came here as tryouts, and others (such as "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Life With Father" and "My Sister Eileen"), were enacted by second or third companies.

MENTION OF "ARSENIC AND OLD LACE" recalls that Boris Karloff, the demon of the original company, has been appointed an air raid warden . . . Picture facing him by the light of a blue flashlight in a blackout . . . Jimmy Durante's New England tour was cut short, we now learn, because his wife is seriously ill and he rushed back to Hollywood to be with her . . . His eight-minutes appearance in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" is being raved about in Hollywood as the most hilarious brief comedy performance of the season . . . Jimmy stayed at the Astor while in New York, and Hy Gardner forwards testimony from Margaret Connolly, housekeeper of that famous hostelry . . . Monte Woolley sleeps with his beard under the covers, and Durante sleeps with his nose above the covers.

PRETTY SHERRY BRITTON AT OLD HOWARD

She Tells One About a Canary

. PRETTY SHERRY BRITTON of Colonel Somerby's garden of ever-blooming orchids is regaling her cast-mates at the Old Howard with the screwiest (we think) story of the new year . . . A fellow Miss Britton knows was given a canary for Christmas (not by her) . . . The bird wouldn't eat, and wouldn't sing, so the owner decided it was lonesome for a mate . . . Not knowing whether the canary was a boy canary or a girl, the fellow took the matter up with the proprietor of a bird store . . . The proprietor's advice was this: "Put one female worm and one male worm in the cage. If the canary eats the male worm it's a girl. If it eats the female worm, it's a boy" . . . "Great," agreed Sherry's boy friend. "But how can I tell whether the worm is male or female?" . . . "You'll have to take that up with the worm store—I only sell birds," said the proprietor.

STAR PART AT LAST FOR JEAN ROGERS

Alice Marble

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13 — There are three kids in Hollywood. Sol and Ben Barzman and Bess Tassel, who are going great guns as writers. They wrote parts of "Meet the People"; they authored "True to Life" for Paramount and a play called "Labor Pains." Now they have sold Samuel Goldwyn a movie story called "Swing Shift." Their story is based on the defense workers whose shift is from four in the afternoon to midnight. All young people, they have no recreation so they have formed a defense workers' club which carries on from midnight. It is Mr. G's purpose to make this a 100 per cent young picture. He'll cast Dana Andrews, Virginia Gilmore, Bettye Avery and Dan Duryea and he'll line up a group of young newcomers. The movie is not just a dream. It goes into production very soon

OPTION TIME can hold no fears for Humphrey Bogart. He has just been handed a straight seven-year contract—the only actor I know, with the exception of Clark Gable, with such a ticket. Looks like Humphrey's mighty good for he survived all the "B's" on the lot and is now one of Warners' prize pets. Four pictures have already been announced for him, but the current one is "Escape from Crime." What is particularly interesting about this is that Hope Manning, whom you will please now call Irene Manning—a newcomer, gets the feminine lead opposite Bogart. She is the charmer who is making her screen debut in "Yankee Doodle Dandy," and on the Warner lot they say she holds promise.

"SUNDAY PUNCH" sounds like a soft drink—but it isn't. For your information it's a story by Fay and Michael Kanin purchased by M-G-M to launch a new co-starring team in William Lundigan and Jean Rogers. This latest M-G-M buy is a comedy centering around a boarding house where prize-fighters live. Bill Lundigan plays one of the fighters—and Jean Rogers his girl friend. Jean has been on the M-G-M lot for some time and while she is a pretty girl the bosses thought she needed more experience before launching her.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random: Alice Marble is reported on the verge of marrying an Eastern millionaire; Natalie Draper has a badly infected toe and has been quite sick; Kathryn Grayson sees New York for the first time when she and John Shelton vacation there in February; Fanny Brice and John Conti, acting as if they meant it, at the Hollywood Derby; Penny Singleton wearing a "blackout" hat made of phosphorus material. It turns white in the dark; Estelle Taylor and Arthur Hemingway III at Bill Jordan's Bar of Music; Katherine Craig, Bob Preston's wife, has left Paramount studio but she will continue her movie career; Eva Gabor and Greg Bautzer a new twosome at Earl Carroll's; Mrs. Cliff Nazarro reported better after a serious operation; John McLain, who was sooo in love with Kay Aldridge, has been going places with Pat Morison; Ginger Rogers plays her first bathtub sequence in "Tales of Manhattan." 'Sundown' Brings Tierney, Cabot to Both Loew's Screens

Scenario Based on Enemy Agents in British Colony

"Sundown," Walter Wanger's first big production for the new season, brings Gene Tierney, Bruce Cabot, George Sanders, Reginald Gardiner and Sir Cedric Hardwicke to Loew's State and Orpheum screens tomorrow.

Britain's Kenya Colony in Central East Africa is the background for the film, which is based on Barre Lyndon's Saturday Evening Post serial of the same name.

The story concerns a small group of white men who rule several hundred thousand blacks and are constantly menaced by semi-savage tribes equipped with firearms by enemy agents.

Miss Tierney plays the darkly beautiful Zia, supposedly the half-caste daughter of an Arab trader. She is the motivating force in the plot, which is strictly a story of today revealing the efforts of enemy agents to break Britain's hold on her strategic stronghold in Africa.

A tent city had to be built to house the large theatrical troupe which came to Acoma Rock, New Mexico, from Hollywood along with carloads of African animals, properties and building materials for the native Kenya huts.

The companion picture, "The Lone Wolf," with Warren William, Roger Clark, Victor Jory, Ruth Ford and Eric Blore, is Columbia's newest picturization of the popular detective series.

Ameche Plays Reporter

London during Sept. of last year is the place and time of "Confirm or Deny," 20th Century-Fox production co-starring Don Ameche and Joan Bennett which is to be seen on the Paramount and Fenway screens for the week starting Thursday.

Realistic scenes of ruins caused by bombing and air raid shelter sequences are said to be high points in this story of a go-getting fast-talking foreign correspondent, played by Ameche, and a teletype operator in the Ministry of Information's London office, portrayed by Joan Bennett.

Supporting players are young Roddy McDowall, John Loder, Raymond Walburn, Arthur Shields and Eric Blore. Len Hammond is the producer and Archie Mayo directed.

The co-feature, "Harvard Here I Come," with "Slapsie" Maxie Rosenbloom, Arline Judge, Marie Wilson and Stanley Brown.

1000 New England Theaters Help 'March of Dimes' Drive

More than 1000 motion picture theaters in the New England area are co-operating in the national "March of Dimes" campaign to help fight infantile paralysis, according to Martin Mullin, chairman of the local motion picture committee working on the drive.

During the week of Jan. 22-28 those theaters will take up collections in their lobbies. In many houses pretty girl volunteers will carry miniature "wishing wells" into which you may drop your coins and "make a wish for victory."

The entire motion picture industry throughout the country has been mobilized to help President Roosevelt's favorite cause. Close to 10,000 theaters will be enrolled, according to expectancy of Nicholas M. Schenck, national chairman of the Motion Pictures Committee.

'ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT' TOPS METROPOLITAN PROGRAM

MORE CASH—For this week, the Record-American-Advertiser, in conjunction with the Paramount and Fenway theaters, will award prizes totaling $50 and 100 pairs of tickets to "Confirm or Deny" for news tips, plus the regular $25 in weekly prizes.

Drama Packed With Thrills

The new Humphrey Bogart picture, "All Through the Night," tops the program opening Thursday at the Metropolitan Theater. "Marry the Boss's Daughter," a romantic comedy with Brenda Joyce, Bruce Edwards and George Barbier will be the companion picture.

A story of a bunch of ex-gangsters who battle the Gestapo, "All Through the Night" is said to offer something brand new and different in the way of thrill-packed action drama. Hard-hitting Humphrey Bogart has the new experience of playing a hero's role. As an ex-gangster, who has entered the gambling and night club racket, he cleans out a nest of fifth columnists despite efforts to pin a murder rap on him.

Among those featured in the cast with Bogart are Conrad Veidt, Kaaren Verne, Judith Anderson, Frank McHugh, Barton MacLane, Peter Lorre, Jane Darwell, and William Demarest. Vincent Sherman directed for Warner Brothers. According to advance reports Bogart gives another top-notch performance equalling his splendid work in "The Maltese Falcon" and "High Sierra."

BEST YET—In "All Through the Night," continental Kaaren Verne is cast for the best role of her acting career thus far. She plays opposite Humphrey Bogart.

Normandie Has 2 Films

Two of the season's most popular films, "It Started With Eve," and "International Squadron," will be shown at the Normandie, beginning tomorrow.

"It Started With Eve" is the smart comedy containing both Deanna Durbin and Charles Laughton, with Deanna in full bloom as a completely grown-up young lady, and Charles Laughton in one of his rarest roles, that of an intrepid old man who savors life so much that he refuses to die on time.

Mr. Laughton, in the film, is a very rich old man, too, whose engagement with the morticians can't be kept until he is sure his son will marry the right girl. Having decided that Deanna is the "right girl"—and w.o wouldn't be able so to decide?--Mr. Laughton is determined.

Needless to report, it is arranged that way.

"International Squadron" is the war film showing Ronald Reagan piloting a plane over in Britain amid all sorts of hazards—not the least of which is his own strange disposition. Petite Olympa Bradna is the girl in the case.

Union Symphony Ban on Walter

Bruno Walter, slated to be guest conductor of Boston Symphony Orchestra this week, today was forbidden to appear by James C. Petrillo, president of American Federation of Musicians, because the Boston organization is not unionized.

Walter, an AFM member, was scheduled to conduct at Symphony Hall Friday afternoon and Saturday night and at Sanders Theater, Cambridge, Thursday night.

Petrillo previously barred appearances with the Symphony by Dr. Howard Hanson, composer-conductor, Joseph Szigeti and Efrem Zimbalist, violinists.

Richard Burgin, assistant conductor of Boston Symphony and concertmaster, will substitute for Walter.

Ann Corio in 'White Cargo'

The on-again-off-again "White Cargo" engagement is here again, with the Ann Corio-starring vehicle moving into the Plymouth Theater on Monday evening against, of all things, the Ibsen classic, "Hedda Gabler," in which the great Greek actress, Katina Paxinou, is to make her American debut in English.

Tondeleyo, the half-breed charmer who ensnares the white man in Leon Gordon's drama, "White Cargo," is a favorite role of exotic actresses. Originally created by Annette Margules, the role was later taken over during the Broadway run of 863 performances by Betty Pierce. In the London presentation it was Mary Clare who portrayed the characterization for two years.

Since that time there have been numerous stars and unknowns who have enacted the role. Marcella Zaballa, wife of C. S. Howard, Seabiscuit's proud owner, played Tondeleyo for eight weeks in 1935 at the Hollywood Playhouse. Lili Damita, who is playing with the idea of becoming the ex-Mrs. Errol Flynn, was a sinuous Tondeleyo in a Connecticut "strawhat" production. And there were many others.

A British movie made of the drama some 11 years ago saw Gypsy Rhouma in the play's only feminine role.

However, among the many who have essayed the characterization during the play's long history, the burlesque beauty is said to be the most voluptuous of them all, coming closest to the author's original conception of Tondeleyo. Miss Corio was seen in the role some seasons back at Cambridge's Brattle St. Theater, where she did capacity business during extended "White Cargo" engagement.

Baer Boasts He Outzips Churchill

—By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER—

Distributed by International News Service

I see that it takes Winston Churchill two minutes to get into his zipper outfit. That's with his cigar in his mouth.

Winston is a bit wide across the narrows and is not built for speed. I can get into a zipper uniform in ten seconds and get under a table with cafe society in five more.

Maybe Winston has an old-fashioned armored Mother Hubbard that zips up the back. He calls his a siren trousseau but I've seen his pictures and he is wrong. He is not even fascinating.

There are no coat and vest with the outfit. It's one piece. Boy, this is such a tough war you have to wear overalls just to get frightened in.

NICE GOING, ANNIE... YOU WERE KINDA SLOW LEARNING HOW TO MAKE BIRD-HOUSES... BUT NOW THAT YOU'VE LEARNED, YOU ARE BEGINNING TO SPEED UP
"THANKS, JIMMY— I KNOW I'M A DUMB OX, BUT I GUESS YOU COULD TEACH ANYONE HOW TO DO ANYTHING
G'WAN— I COULDN'T TEACH A KITTEN HOW TO DRINK MILK
OH, YES, YOU COULD— AT FIRST IT TOOK ME ALL DAY TO MAKE ONE HOUSE... NOW, EVERY DAY I MAKE A LITTLE SUB-DIVISION FULL OF BIRD-HOUSES—
DARRELL McCLURE
THEN MAYBE WHEN THE BIRDS MOVE INTO THE SUB-DIVISION, THEY'LL THINK THE LITTLE HOUSES ARE SWELL— AN' THAT WILL MAKE 'EM SO HAPPY THEY'LL SING, "THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME"

COME ON, SWEETNESS... LET'S CUT A RUG! SUCH SNAP YOU GOT! AND YOU USED TO BE SO LISTLESS AND TIRED-LOOKING. HOW COME?
A "VITAMIN B COMPLEX DEFICIENCY" WAS TO BLAME, SO THEY SAID. CATCH ON?
I CATCH THE VITAMIN PART, BUT THE B COMPLEX STOPS ME
IT'S VERY IMPORTANT! IT'S THE ONE BIG GROUP OF VITAMINS SCIENTISTS ARE MOST EXCITED ABOUT AT PRESENT. MILLIONS ARE BELOW PAR BECAUSE THEY DON'T GET ENOUGH OF IT... ONLY FOUND IN NATURAL SOURCES, LIKE YEAST
YEAST? THE KIND YOU BUY AT THE GROCERY... FLEISCHMANN'S?
CERTAINLY! EVERYBODY KNOWS THAT FLEISCHMANN'S HAS ADDITIONAL VITAMINS NOT FOUND IN ANY OTHER YEAST. CHEAP TOO. ONLY A FEW CENTS A CAKE... MIGHT DO YOU A LOT OF GOOD, TOO
MORE THAN THAT, FLEISCHMANN'S TASTES SIMPLY SWELL IN TOMATO JUICE. MASH A CAKE IN A DRY GLASS WITH A FORK, ADD A LITTLE TOMATO JUICE, STIR TILL BLENDED, FILL UP THE GLASS AND DRINK, TWICE A DAY, AND DON'T FORGET

If you bake at home, remember that Fleischmann's has more vitamins than any other yeast.

ALL MINE! THIS WILL BE MY LAST VOYAGE AS A CAPTAIN. FROM NOW ON, I'LL TRAVEL AS A PASSENGER, AND LIVE LIKE A GENTLEMAN!
MATE, WHAT'S GOTTEN INTO THE NATIVE CREW? WHAT'S ALL THIS WHISPERING ABOUT?
I DON'T KNOW, CAPTAIN. THEY'RE ALL ACTIN' KINDA QUEER.

New Waldorf Official Honored

Boston business leaders joined last night with associates of Edward P. Keefe of Norwell in honoring him at a friendship dinner at the Parker House in recognition of his recent appointment as general purchasing agent of the Waldorf System, Inc.

Keefe's promotion came after years of conscientious work with the Waldorf chain of restaurants. His first job with the company was as a busboy. He is a vice-commander of Crosscup-Pishon Post, American Legion.

Maj. Paul Hines, past commander of the post and toastmaster, presented the honored guest with a watch on behalf of Keefe's many friends.

Speakers included T. Walter Sharpe, New England division manager for Waldorf; Louis Brems, director of public celebrations, representing Mayor Tobin; George C. Wiswell, commander of Crosscup-Pishon Post; Harry Baldwin, vice-president of Waldorf; Ernest Hofyzer, advertising director of the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser; Earl Dempsey, display advertising manager of the Herald, and Lyman Armes, promotion manager for the Post.

Ariane Latest Skating Sensation

WE WANT YOU to meet Ariane, the most glamorous figure on skates, at the Silver Skates Derby at the Boston Garden on Sunday afternoon. This petite miss is 18 years of age. She came to this country from Switzerland where she was the gold medalist in the figure skating championships.

ARIANE
Skates for Derby Fans

The Silver Skates Derby has always featured a brilliant girl skater each year who later went on to gain national fame. We mention the names of Megan Morgan, Vera Hruba, Erna Anderson and the colorful little Irene Franklin, the latter not yet old enough to participate in professional shows.

It is the opinion of Walter Brown of the Garden, Director Ben Levias of the Silver Skates Derby, and other experts in figure skating that the dazzling Ariane is the most sensational girl skater in the world today. Her youth and speed would probably enable her to surpass even Sonja Henie in a full list of competitive events.

Sonja has the Hollywood setting and the name value, while Ariane has the amazing versatility and stamina that go with youth.

Ariane is a brunette with dashing features. On the ice she is a picture of grace and beauty.

Ariane comes to America well schooled in figure skating. She was the student in Switzerland of Gerschweiler and Mickeler who assisted in the advancement of Sonja. Last year Sonja sent for Mickeler to be her skating partner in special numbers of her show.

Ariane's appearance at the Silver Skates Derby will give you an opportunity to compare this youthful star with Sonja, Megan Taylor, Verna Hruba, Erna Anderson and Irene Franklin.

The Swiss star was anxious to make her New England debut at the Silver Skates Derby.

"That's where the other stars started, wasn't it?" Ariane asked. "I think one has good fortune in skating carnivals in America if accepted by the Silver Skates audience."

12-Year-Old Star

Miss Jane Weiss of Dedham, 12-year-old star of the Commonwealth Skating Club, will also give figure skating exhibitions.

Ben Levias has succeeded in signing Hal Haig, America's No. 1 clown. While on skates, Al eats cigars and cigarettes and then consumes some lighted matches for dessert.

There is a large entry list in the open events and plenty of thrilling competition is assured. The price scale, as in past years, is reasonable. Forty cents for the grown-ups and 25 cents for children 12 years of age or under. Reserved seats are 55 cents. The Silver Skates Derby committee is anxious to place its ice carnival within the price range of everyone.

LOUIS GIVES $50,000-PLUS TO NAVY FUND

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Joe Louis is busy doing things for others during the last hours before he dons the uniform of a private in the United States Army.

The heavyweight boxing champion, who passed the physical and mental tests yesterday and will be inducted tomorrow at Camp Upton, had a date at 3 p. m. today to turn some $50,000-plus over to the Naval Relief Society and later in the day was to visit a hospital for Negro infantile paralysis victims.

The $50,000-plus is Louis' share of the fight Friday night in which he flattened Buddy Baer in a single round. Joe's 40 per cent of the $189,700.55 gate amounted to approximately $64,000. He is retaining only training camp expenses.

Reminded that the average selectee spent his last free time celebrating, Louis replied:

"The time to celebrate is after the war is over."

After returning yesterday from Governor's Island, where he passed his pre-induction examinations, Louis said his decision to enter the Army at once had been so sudden that not even his wife had been informed in advance.

Mrs. Louis is expected today from the couple's Chicago home and "I imagine that she will have something to say. But I am Uncle Sam's boy now," grinned the champion.

Cowley Ties Hextall for Top

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (AP)—Bryan Hextall of the New York Rangers went pointless in the National Hockey League during the past week and Boston's Bill Cowley climbed into a tie with him for league scoring honors.

Cowley, who established a league record for assists last season, now has 22 and four goals for his 26 point total. Hextall has 14 goals and 12 assists.

Pat Egan, Brooklyn defenseman, spent only two minutes in the penalty box during the week, but retained the dubious honor of the league bad man with 57 minutes of enforced rest.

The 10 leading scorers:

'BUSHER' PLAYS DEFENSE AS BRUINS MEET WINGS

By BILL GRIMES

After a one week furlough, the Bruins return to action tonight against the Detroit Red Wings at the Boston Garden.

The Rossmen are leading the N. H. L. by a margin of two points, thanks to the defeat the Wings pinned on the Leafs last Saturday night. They will reach the half-way mark—the 24th game—of the campaign tonight. But, with the Rangers favored to win over Americans, they must take Jack Adams' crew into camp in order to avoid a co-partnership of first place, for the Blue Shirts are "all flat" with the Leafs in second place.

After they had nosed out the Blackhawks a week ago, the Bruins had no less than five casualties, Capt. "Dit" Clapper, Milt Schmidt, Woody Dumart, "Dutch" Hiller and Jack Crawford. Clapper and Hiller were victims of heavy colds; Dumart was shelved by a charley horse; Schmidt received a shoulder injury during a collision with Pat Egan, the Amerks' hard hitting defense man, in New York; and Crawford was cut for three stitches in the Chicago tilt.

WINGS EXHAUSTED

Clapper, Hiller, Dumart and Schmidt responded to Dr. Martin J. Crotty's treatments, and the magic touch of Trainer Win Green, but Crawford, whose instep is still sore and tender, will not dress.

Harvey "Busher" Jackson, who broke into the Bruin lineup a week ago, will start on the defense with Capt. Clapper.

For a decade, "Busher" was one of the outstanding left wings in the N. H. L. He has never played defense but due to the absence of Jack Crawford, which left the Bruins with only three rear guards, Manager Art Ross decided to gamble on "Busher" and wisely paired the former Maple Leaf star with "Dit" Clapper.

From Manager Jack Adams right down through the entire squad to Trainer "Honey" Walker, the Wings were exhausted when they arrived here from Chicago.

The N. H. L schedule committee stacked the cards on the Wings. Since New Year's night, the Detroiters have played seven games. Tonight's will be the eighth the Wings have played in less than two weeks. And, moreover, they've played only one home game over this stretch, journeying twice to Chicago along with visiting Montreal, New York, Toronto and now Boston.

GOODFELLOW READY

Under the circumstances, the Wings haven't fared so badly in '42. They divided a home and home series with the Flying Frenchmen, broke even with the Blackhawks, spoiled the last weekend for the Leafs, after both Rangers and Americans had come from behind to nip them in New York.

Since the last time the Wings appeared here, Ebbie Goodfellow has returned to the firing line. Goodfellow had a cartilage removed just before the season got underway and it was believed that he was through as a player. However, the veteran skated so well during practise sessions that he decided to take another fling at the game.

With Goodfellow back in the lineup, the Wings have taken on a new lease of life.

EDDIE SHORE REGAINS STAR

By Associated Press

Strengthened by the unexpected return of center Fred Thurier, the Springfield Indians entertain the ambitious Cleveland Barons in an American League hockey game tonight.

Thurier, the American League's leading scorer a year ago, was returned because he failed to fit into the Brooklyn lineup. But he will be welcomed by Manager Eddie Shore, although the Indians now are leading the Eastern sector of the loop.

Cleveland, the playoff king of the 1941 season, is second in the western half behind Hershey. A triumph tonight, however, would means a first place deadlock between the two.

In their only previous meeting this year at Springfield, the Indians triumphed, 4 to 3. It is the first of a two-game road trip for the Ohioans, the Barons playing at Pittsburgh Wednesday.

MEDFORD GRID SQUAD STARTS 5-DAY TOUR

Thirty-six members of the Medford High football squad, accompanied by Coach Tom O'Connor, Faculty Manager Dick Phelan, Assistant Coaches Henry Buckley and Joseph Murphy, Trainer John Bohn and Eric Harrison, equipment manager, left South Station this morning for a five-day trip through Washington and New York.

The party, numbering 42, was to arrive in Washington at 6:30 p. m. They are scheduled to spend the evening and Wednesday touring Washington.

They will leave Washington tomorrow night for New York, where they will remain until Saturday afternoon, when they board a 3 o'clock train for Boston.

Making the trip were:

Mickey Cochrane Seeks to Aid Navy

DENVER, Jan. 13 (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, one-time of the Detroit Tigers, has offered his services to the Navy as an aide to Lieut.-Comm. Gene Tunney.

Cochrane, 39, said he took a preliminary examination three months ago, but still must take his final physical tests.

It's About Time

Braves Cut Jungle Tours

Like many other major league clubs, year after year, the Braves have gallivanted around the deep south on exhibition tours, losing money, and, at times, even ball players.

But now Pres. Bob Quinn has discontinued that practice. According to the spring training schedule released today, the Braves will play only one game after they break away at Sanford until they meet the Red Sox in the annual intra-city series at Braves Field.

A year ago the Braves took 11 days to get home from San Antonio, Tex. And during that time, they were eight nights in sleepers. One squad left Mission City on the morning of April 1 to play the University of Texas that afternoon at Austin. That night the entire party met in the Texas capitol and went over to Houston, then up to Texarkana, and thence to Fort Smith, Ark., and Enid, Okla., which is almost out to the Panhandle. After spending a night at Oklahoma City, they journeyed to Wichita, Kan. They were rained out at Topeka and Kansas City, but got back into action at Evansville, Ind., and arrived home late the following night.

TERRY ASKS FOR GAME

When the Braves left San Antonio, Manager Stengel had five pitchers ready, Manny Salvo, Dick Errickson, Jim Tobin, Bill Posedel and Frank Lamanna. During the exhibition tour, the staff did a nosedive and, with the exception of Tobin, was on the downgrade most of the season.

Until Manager Bill Terry begged him to play Jersey City in Jacksonville, Quinn intended to have the Braves remain in Sanford until the night of April 9. But to accommodate Terry, Quinn altered his plans and the Braves will start North on the morning of April 8.

The Braves will play 19 games before they break camp this spring. They'll open the Grapefruit League season with the Washington Nats at Sanford on March 14th, and the following day, Sunday, they'll play the Phillies at Miami Beacch and return immediately to Sanford to take on the Cleveland Indians the next afternoon.

FIRST GAME MARCH 14

During the spring training season they will meet the St. Louis Browns and the Brooklyn Dodgers four times. They've arranged to play the Browns twice at Deland and twice at Sanford, and also two home and home series with the Dodgers, who will train at Daytona Beach. Then, too, they have a home and home series with Phillies, Cincinnati, Washington and Cleveland.

Quinn hasn't decided on the date that the Braves will report to Stengel at Sanford. However, with the first game not scheduled until March 14, it is doubtful if the first squad, pitchers and catchers will be in camp before the first week of March. BILL GRIMES.

The training schedule:

March 10, tentatively open; 11, tentatively open; 12, tentatively open; 13, tentatively open; 14, Washington at Sanford; 15 Philadelphia at Miami Beach; 16, Cleveland at Sanford; 17, Brooklyn at Daytona Beach; 18, tentatively open; 19, tentatively open; 20, Cleveland at Clearwater; 21, St. Louis Browns at Deland; 22, Louis Browns at Sanford; 23, Brooklyn at Daytona Beach; 24, tentatively open; 25, Newark at Sebring; 26, Brooklyn at Sanford; 27, New York Giants at Sanford; 28 Washington at Orlando; 29, Cincinnati at Tampa; 30 Cincinnati at Sanford; 31, tentatively open.

April 1, Brooklyn at Sanford; 2, Philadelphia at Sanford; 3, tentatively open; 4, St. Louis Browns at Sanford; 5, St. Louis Browns at DeLand; 6, Milwaukee at Sanford; 7, tentatively open; 8, Jersey City at Jacksonville; 9, tentatively open; 10, tentatively open; 11, Boston Red Sox at Boston; 12, Boston Red Sox at Boston.

ROVERS NEXT FOR OLYMPICS AT GARDEN

Having temporarily beaten back the Johnstown threat, Boston Olympics now find themselves with the task of halting the one team they have feared all season—the New York Rovers whom they meet at the Garden tomorrow night.

Coach Hago Harrington, at the start of the campaign, named the Rovers as the club to beat and not Johnstown, as has been the case during the first half of the race. Following the double triumph over the Birds this past weekend, Hago still stood firm on his conviction.

B. C. Tackles B. U. at Arena

The championship of the New England Intercollegiate Hockey League may be decided when Boston College and Boston University start swinging in their first of two annual games tonigh at the Arena.

The Eagle-Terrier tilt will feature a league doubleheader. Northeastern and M. I. T. will meet in the secondary game.

B. C. has posted four straight victories, three of them league games, thus far this season. While dropping games to Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth, the Terriers are unbeaten in two loop tries.

A. B. U. victory tonight will dislodge B. C. from the first place post it has held since 1939. The Eagles who have won 22 straight league games in three years, were N. E. champions in '40 and '41.

B. C. will play its second league game of the week when it travels to Waterville, Me., to duel a Colby team which also is undefeated. The White Mules meet New Hampshire on the latter's rink at Durham, N. H., tonight and the Wildcats, who showed lots of promise against both B. U. and B. C. last week, might spring an upset. B. U. displays a second game this week, a Saturday meeting with Bowdoin at Brunswick, Me.

B. C. will string along with the same six which started and posted victories against Yale, Northeastern, M. I. T. and N. H. It's a balanced unit, having a senior, two juniors and a trio of sophomores.

545,835 to 1 Finish at Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 13 (AP)—Dog race fans at the Biscayne Kennel Club thought it unusual when the field finished 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 and 1 in the seventh event, but theyhad to wait for a University of Miami mathematics professor to figure a little before they learned how unusual it was.

The professor decided the chances were exactly 545,835 to 1 against the dogs finishing in order.

Browns Hunt Cash for '42 Season

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13 (AP)—President Donald L. Barnes of the Browns told a stockholders' meeting today the baseball club had no working capital for 1942 but was attemptinng to obtain additional cash loans from directors and banks.

He added there were no indications yet whether efforts to arrange the financing would be successful.

A reduction of $63,091 in net revenue from all games and deficits in minor league farm operations caused the Browns to suffer a substantial loss last season, Barnes said. It was reported the club went into the red about $100,000.

N. Y. RUNAWAY BLAMED

The Browns played before 661,882 persons last year—176,240 at home and 486,642 on the road—as compared with 816,752 in 1940, including 239,589 at home and 577,163 away.

Barnes attributed the drop in road attendance to the lack of interest after the middle of the season when the New York Yankees made a runaway of the pennant race.

A policy of rigid economy will be recommended to the directors, Barnes said, because of the war, the uncertainty of the future and the seven-game limit on night baseball.

Attendance at seven night games in 1941 was 45,413 as compared with 117,091 for 14 games the preceding year. The Browns already have released their scouting and publicity staffs.

BARNES GROUP IN CONTROL

The Barnes group showed itself firmly in control of the club, voting a total of 62,340 shares of the 100,000 shares of Browns' stock outstanding. There had been reports of dissatisfaction over the team's affairs among some of the leading stockholders.

Two directors, Howard V. Stephens and William H. Bixxby, resigned because of the press of other business. Barnes and the remaining directors were re-elected

Oil Firm Gets Option on Latonia

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 13 (AP)—The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio has an option expiring Feb. 4 on the prpoerty of the Latonia race track at Covington, Ky., Samuel H. McMeekin, secretary of Churchill Downs-Latonia, said today. The action climaxes five years of negotiation between the oil company, which operates a refinery adjacent to the race track.

Culmination of the sale is said to be dependent on the Ohio concern's ability to obtain necessary construction permits from the city of Covington for planned expansion.

Sale and abandonment of racing at the mile oval would leave Kentucky, traditional home of the thoroughbred with but three tracks —Churchill Downs, here; Keeneland at Lexington, and Dade Park, near Henderson. All three have spring dates assigned.

$600,000 in Purses At Hialeah Meeting

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 13 (AP)—There's $60,000 in purses to shoot at, so a lot of horses should be able to pick up oat money at Hialeah Park—racing's war-winter stronghold.

It'll be a scramble, with about 2000 thoroughbreds on hand for the 46-day meeting which opens tomorrow, but even a fourth-place finish in the cheapest claiming event is worth $50, enough to fill a feed bag many times.

The smaller stables will fare about as well as they would in normal times, but the stake competition will be tougher because of the closing of California tracks.

STARS GET QUARTERS

There isn't stable room for the platers stranded at Santa Anita and other race tracks, and Hialeah officials were unwilling anyway to spread the claiming race purses too thinly, so the horses shipped here before the crisis won't have to run against a herd of new rivals.

Quarters had to be found, however, for the ace California performers—like Mioland, Challedon, Pictor and Porter's Cap—entered in the rich stakes.

The only major track in operation, Hialeah will stick to its minimum purse of $1200—but will help tide horsemen over by offering more money for several races every day.

MINIMUM STAKE PURSE $5000

First place in a $1200 event is worth $850, second $200 and third $100. In a $2000 race the winner gets $1400, the second horse $300, third $200 and fourth $100.

The outstanding horses will get a chance to earn their keep in 11 stakes, with a minimum purse of $5000.

Richest event is the $50,000 added Widener, to be run closing day. The $25,000 Flamingo Feb. 28 is the best pot for 3-year-olds.

The Inaugural Handicap tomorrow has a $5000 prize list.

With only today's program left, Apprentice Willie Day of New York is Tropical Park's leading winner, with 16 triumphs. Conn McCreary, the diminutive saddle star, is only one behind.

Tommy Meade, old-time jockey who has played in Broadway musicals, wants to put on a charity show with the cast limited to racetrack people. He points to McCreary, Eddie Arcaro and Nick Wall among the jockeys and Bing Crosby and Ben Bernie among the owners and fans.

Harvard Teams Layoff After Swim Meet

Following the swimming meet tomorrow night with Brown, Harvard's major athletic teams will take an enforced lay-off of three weeks due to mid-year exams. The next official competition of a varsity squad will be the basketball game against Tufts on Feb. 4 in the Harvard gym.

The basketball team, victors over Dartmouth in their last game, and the hockey team, losers Saturday night against the Indians, will hold short practice sessions at intervals during the exam period. Having defeated Tufts in two informal meets, the Crimson trackmen will engage the Northeastern track team in their third informal engagement of the winter on Jan. 31 at Soldiers Field. This meet replaces the cancelled K. of C. competition.

Defense Bond Prize Campaign Opens

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Joe Williams, New York sports columnist, today began organization for the U. S. Treasury of a committee of sports writers representing each of the 48 states to promote the use of defense bonds and stamps as prizes and purses in sports events. He will enlist leading sports figures in endorsing the defense savings campaign.

Rotolo Returns In Grand Finals

Six weeks ago the name of Tommy Rotolo meant little to local amateur boxing fans—today they're all looking forward to see this two-fisted whirlwind from Rome, N. Y., in action again at the Grand All-America Finals a week from Monday night.

Until he came to Boston for the All-Eastern Finals on Dec. 15, Rotolo was just another 128-pounder. Just before the fights started he was still another kid named Tommy, for in that class was Sammy Derrico of Cleveland, who had gone to the semi-finals in the nationals and Lester McGowan, All-America champion from Buffalo.

Rotolo drew Derrico in the semi-finals and what a fight that was. For three rounds these boys just went at it and the two judges voted that Tommy punched just a bit sharper and he got the nod.

In the Eastern finals, Rotolo tangled with McGowan—the "baby face" slugger who had never been defeated in Boston. The kid from Rome brought down the house by continually beating McGowan to the punch and he clearly outbelted the champion to win going away.

After surviving these two tests Rotolo must be given a real chance to win the Grand Finals a week from Monday night.

And thinking back on the night of Dec. 15—it looks as though Rome, N. Y., has a coming champion.

Chicago Turf Boom Expected

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (INS)—Chicago race track officials looked forward today to another banner year on the tracks in the Chicago area, confident that the war will have little effect on the sport.

The probability that many stables from California, where a blackout on racing has been imposed, will campaign here following the Kentucky spring session has encouraged sportsmen to believe Chicago tracks will continue to flourish this coming season.

July and August racing in these parts will be just about the richest presented anywhere in the country. Arlington and Washington Park's combined purse distribution will total well above the $1,000,000 mark.

With entries from nationally famous stables, race promoters foresee not more than a slight letdown from 1941, most successful season in the last 10 years.

Sharkey Named Mat Third Man

Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, will be the third man in the ring when The Angel risks his wrestling crown against contender Chief Osley Saunooke tomorrow night in the feature of Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly mat program.

Part of the gross receipts will be donated to the soldiers of the New England frontier defense sector, commanded by Maj.-Gen. Thomas A. Terry.

The referee situation was getting serious when Sharkey settled the problem for Bowser by volunteering his services.

In a special match, Steve "Crusher" Casey, about to re-enlist in the Army, will take on Sliding Bill Hansen, Salt Lake City, while the semi-final will have Pete Baltran battling El Diablo.

Goodenough Offers Skiing Resolutions

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Skiers! The New Year and the new skiing season are already underway, but it is not too late to make your New Year's skiing resolutions now.

We recommend the following suggestions:

1—Always ski under control! When you feel that you cannot regain control, stop! If you cannot stop, go to ski school!

2—Do not attempt to run trails until you know how to stem, sideslip, and have mastered elementary turns.

3—Do not ski alone on either trails or slopes. A minor accident can result in something serious if you are left exposed too long.

4—Always stop skiing when you feel tired. And do not hesitate to take your skis off and carry them down an icy trail.

5—Keep to the side of the trail. Downhill runners always have the right-of-way. When climbing, keep your eyes up the trail and be alert.

6—Always heed instantly the cry of "track" by moving to the side of a trail.

7—If you fall, lie still in one spot until the others pass you. Do not confuse every one by trying to dodge between speeding skiers. The result may be the same as a log jam!

8—Mark worn or danger spots for the benefit of the other fellow.

9—Don't spoil the snow surface by walking on it when soft. When you fall, fill in your "bathtub."

10—Do not be a reckless runner. Skiing is meant to be pretty and rhythmic. A good skier is always under control!

SKI SCRIBBLING: Chatting with Hannes Schneider on Cranmere Mountain recently, he tells us that there is more to skiing than meets the eye.

"In selecting a new slope, it is essential to pick one that is adapted to skiing," declared the Ski Meister. "It is useless to attempt to improve hills and mountainsides that give little promise of ever becoming suitable skiing terrain. The big job, then, is to clear the selected slope or trail of all trees, rocks and other obstructions."

He continued, "Few people realize what work there is in clearing off a mountainside so that young and old can enjoy skiing with safety there. The trees and bushes must not only be cut down, but their stumps must be pulled. The ground must be leveled so that no sudden unskiable dips in the slopes or dangerous turns on trails remain. Slopes should be sown with grass, making it possible to ski with little snow cover."

GREATEST ARRAY OF ICE TALENT WILL ENTERTAIN AT SKATES DERBY

Boston ice followers are exceptionally keen judges of figure skating talent—folks in these parts have seen them all including Sonja Henie, Belita, Vera Hruba, Bess Ehrhart, Evelyn Chandler and Megan Taylor.

And now a new sensation has come to the front—Ariane. This lovely 19-year-old Swiss standout has been the rage of Europe for two years and has finally come to these shores to entertain in the leading American cities.

Her first important performance will be given here at the Boston Garden Sunday afternoon where she will be featured in the Seventh Annual American-Record Silver Skates Derby.

Great figure skating stars are nothing new to Derby fans, who have seen the world's best every year. This coming show, though, will surpass all past Derby events, and Ariane will top any star who has ever appeared in this ice classic.

NUMEROUS ATTRACTIONS

With Ariane as the feature, the Silver Skates committee is completing plans for a terrific afternoon of entertainment.

There will be barrel jumpers, figure skaters, comedians and other added attractions.

Then, too, there will be several hundred boys and girls battling it out for the attractive array of prizes to the winners in the different Derby events.

A complete list of the prizes is:

Men's senior event—pair of silver plated skates to the winner and the huge Ice-Capades trophy. Second place winner gets a pair of chromium plated skates, and the skater finishing third gets statuary plated bronze skates. There also will be a diamond medal to the winner of the most laps.

Girls' senior event—pair of silver plated skates to the winner and the beautiful, engraved Bess Ehrhart Trophy given by the Ice Follies. Second and third place winners to receive the same award as those in the men's senior event.

BRINE'S GIVES 2 TROPHIES

In the remaining five regular classes plus the special midget race for girls all those who finish second will receive silver medals, and those coming in third will be given bronze medals.

The winners of the five regular classes will be given chromium plated skates.

For special awards the James W. Brine, Inc. sporting goods store is giving two nicely engraved trophies—one to the winner of the boys' junior event and the other to the boys' midget victor.

The Boston Evening American is awarding a trophy to the winner of the boys' intermediate division and the Daily Record is giving a similar award to the girl's intermediate winner.

The winners of the boys' juvenile class and the girls' midget division will receive Alfred Johnson skates.

JUST AN IDEA of the prizes awaiting the Silver Skates winners Sunday at the Garden. Eleanor Mara and her sister Peggy pose with the trophies at James W. Brine, Inc., at the corner of Devonshire and Summer sts.

Left to right: Farley Massey, Sally Bemis, Margery Tator, Ann Winslow and Eleanor Douglass. The determination of these girls to improve their shooting is not uncommon these days with rifle clubs mushrooming throughout the country, especially in New England where keen interest is being displayed in the coming William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship tournament.

CALIENTE SEEKS TO CUT ATTENDANCE

AQUA CALIENTE, Mex., Jan. 13 (AP)—The Baja California Jockey Club, which conducts weekly horse racing at this northern Mexico resort, is discontinuing its most popular feature to reduce attendance.

The public handicapping contest, which General Manager Walter C. Marty said accounted largely for the track's success, is being dropped to keep excessive crowds from the track in recognition of the danger to large congregations in event of air raids.

Also, Marty said, "Caliente has no desire to become a Mr. Big in racing. It plans to go along in the same modest fashion that has prevailed in the last three years."

Until recently Sunday racing drew an average attendance of about 5000 but since the war and resultant ban on large gatherings in California caused suspension of racing there, attendance has doubled.

Hollywood Wants Golfer Ben Hogan To Become Actor

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13 (AP)—Golf star Ben Hogan may become a motion picture actor.

Hollywood cinema producers watched his dramatic birdie on the eighteenth hole of the Los Angeles open, tying for the big prize, and renewed negotiations to get the Texas-born Hershey, Pa., pro into the movies.

Hogan, top money winner of the professional links ranks in 1942, already has taken a screen test.

The studio about ready to sign Hogan to a contract—and all the formalities were said to be nearly over—is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

MAY RETURN TO LEAGUE

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Jan. 13 (AP)—Alvin Butz, president of the Allentown club of the Inter-State Baseball League, said here that Allentown's return to the league for 1942 depended on efforts to secure a major league tie-up.

DARTMOUTH KEEPS SPORTS IN HIGH GEAR

HANOVER, N. H., Jan. 13 (AP)—A sports-as-usual plan has been outlined for Dartmouth in a four-point program announced by Athletic Director William McCarter. He also indicated he would attempt to arrange seasonable schedules for the college's summer term, which will start on May 25.

McCarter gave assurances that Dartmouth would fulfill its Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League commitments, even if its team had to continue its activities during the interval between the May 10th graduation day and the summer term opening, when the college will be closed.

He also stated that there would not be any changes in the current winter sports schedules, that spring sports would be revised without any curtailments to meet changes in the college calendar, that football and all other fall sports would be continued if circumstances permit and that summer sports programs would be inaugurated if arrangements could be made with other colleges.

Dartmouth, he added, already has made minor schedule changes to avoid conflicts with the advanced final examinations period.

Jones Hopes Nation Will Keep Sports Alive

ATLANTA, Jan. 13 (AP)—Bobby Jones, the former grand slam champion of golf, hopes the nation will keep sports alive.

"The competitive side of golf is not as important as keeping courses open," he says. "While working under forced draft, we need some relaxation. If you work hard and play a little, it helps in your work."

Jones plans to play in exhibition matches for the benefit of the Red Cross. He already has offered his services to the U. S. G. A.

Johnny Druze to Wed N. J. Girl on Jan. 24

Johnny Druze, former Boston College end coach and now assistant to Frank Leahy at Notre Dame, informed Boston friends today that he would be married Jan. 24 to Miss Rose Marie Stockl of Newark, N. J., at Sacred Heart of Jesus Church, Irvington, N. J.

Druze, a resident of Irvington, was one of the "Seven Blocks of Granite" on the Fordham football team and served under Leahy at B. C.

Four Teams Can Enter Hearst Shoot as League

Any organization having a membership large enough to divide into four teams can enter the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship competition as a league.

According to the rules of this great shoot, only league winners are eligible for the grand finals in May and the only stipulation is that there must be at least four teams in the league.

This point was clarified by Captain Louis E. Lutz, head of the board for the Hearst shoot in New England. The question came up when the Klean Kutt Rifle Club of East Jaffrey, N. H., entered four teams and requested that these teams make up a league in itself.

It was ruled perfectly permissible and any other club or organization may do the same if they wish.

Otherwise the clubs will have to be a regular league or have the board enter them in a league after the entries close on January 30.

Then, too, the shoot is not restricted to men. In fact Sargent College of physical education for women has entered two teams.

For any clarification of the rules write the Rifle Editor, care of this newspaper.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN Sports by Bill Corum

The Critics' Sewing Circle

THIS BUREAU has just about run out of things to say about Joe Louis. Almost as completely, indeed, as Joe himself has run out of satisfactory opponents. And he hasn't had too many of those from the beginning. Most of his critics must agree by now that the champion outclasses his field like Man o' War would outclass a bunch of selling platers.

One can attribute that either to Louis' superlative ability or the lack of ability on the part of current crop of heavyweights and light heavyweights. You pays your money and you takes your cherce.

"Who'd he ever lick?" is one of the oldest crys in the long history of prizefighting.

Frankly, it never made a great deal of sense to your correspondent. When a fellow has whipped everybody in sight that settles it so far as we are concerned. It scarcely seems cricket to ask him to go back and resurrect John Lawrence Sullivan, or Tom Cribb, and lick them. Besides which, the shades of those gentlemen might object to being disturbed.

Would no doubt object if the purpose for which they were being roused from their slumbers were made clear to them.

Because the story of Louis is currently a too-often-told tale and therefore quite probably boring to you cherished readers, we would have passed on to another subject today if a press release on our desk hadn't caught our eye as we sat down to indite this undying opus.

The release from Harry Markson of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club's publicity staff, was intended as a "build down" for Louis as part of the job of building up Friday night's fight. It is quite possible that some of those quoted were lending their names to the ballyhoo for that eminently worthy cause.

For all of which I find the release interesting and figure you may also enjoy the comments of what might be called Joe's severest and most stubborn critics.

Well, Is it True?

THE page begins with a question: "Is it True What They Say About Louis?" and continues as follows:

"FRED FULTON—"Joe Louis would have been a third rater in my day. I doubt that he would have lasted long as a sparring partner. Jack Dempsey would have bowled over Louis easily."

Now Mr. Fulton, who is not to be confused with the steamboat man, although he always loved a whistle, was slightly before my time in the Cauliflower Garden of Eden. But I seem to have a vague memory of his having been called The Plastered Plasterer." Just a one mot among the boys of fearful Freddie's day, no doubt.

However, diligent search of all the boxing records at hand discloses only one reference to Mr. Fulton. This comes under Jack Dempsey's record for the year 1918 and reads, "Knockouts—Fred Fulton 1."

The "one," of course, is the round in which the great gladiator who calls Louis a third rater and says he wouldn't have lasted long as a sparring patrner bit the dust.

No wonder Fulton has such a high regard for Dempsey. Jack made him an immortal. But let us get on to the next gentleman.

"JACK DEMPSEY—"Confidence is half the battle. I'd have had that and knocked Louis out."

Perhaps 'ol Jawn is right. It's one man's opinion, anyhow. But it seans just as much as if Jim Jeffies should suddenly burst out with a blood curdling defy in which he would claim that he would have made mincemeat of Dempsey and Tunney in the same evening. Elderly fathers are entitled to their dreams.

Let us be as fair, and at the same time as realistic as possible, and say that a fight between Louis and Dempsey, both in their prime, would have been a great fight. So far as I know, Joe himself never has suffered from any lack of quiet confidence.

GENE TUNNEY—"It's over 13 years since I retired from the heavyweight championship. But here's a challenge: If Joe Louis will start smoking, and promise to inhale a couple of packages of cigarettes every day for six months, I'll engage to lick him in 15 rounds."

Do you mean "reefers," Commander? And how about it if Joe should take a wee nippe of Scotche every day for six months, what then, my friend Gene? But as an aside, let me say that they tell me you are doing a grand job with the Navy, and we of the boxing world are proud of you.

JACK JOHNSON—"Louis doesn't have balance. His stance is wrong and, therefore, he doesn't punch correctly."

You'll remember Johnson, among other things, as a fighter of wonderful balance and poise. He was so well poised at all times that even when balanced on the flat of his back by Jess Willard in Havana, he carefully shaded his eyes from the hot Cuban sun.

JACK HURLEY—"Louis can't fight even yet."

I assume "Even Yet" must be a fighter in Hurley's string. Jack has had only one fighter, Billy Petrolle, a corker. Now he has among others, a colored heavyweight named Franklin. But I've always heard it said that lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place.

From Across the Bar

TONY GALENTO—"Joe Louis is still a bum."

Mine Host Galento gave out this epic interview while hidden under the bar of his quiet and homey little tavern in one of the Oranges of New Jersey. I can never tell the Oranges apart. But I can always recognize the cheerful and hospitable Tony; he's the watermelon.

LOU NOVA—"Louis doesn't his as hard as Max Baer."

Nova should know.

MAX SCHMELING—"He's a foul fighter. Louis is one of the most unsportsmanlike fighters I ever met."

No comment.

BUDDY BAER—"If Louis hadn't hit me after the bell in Washington, I'd have beaten him. I'll knock him out next time."

"Next time" was Friday night in Madison Square Garden.

Boxing Results

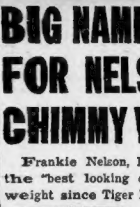
HOLYOKE—Carmine Fatta, 136, Brooklyn, N. Y., knocked out Lou Fortuna, Newark, N. J.—"Tippy" Larkin, 135, Garfield, stopped Tommy Cross, 138, Philadelphia, 6.

PITTSBURGH—Mello Bettina, 182½, Beacon, N. Y., former king of the light heavyweights, took a decision over Moze Brown, 178, McKeesport, Pa. (10).

NEW YORK—Charles (Lulu) Costanino, 127½, New York, gained a unanimous decision over Billy Speary, 131½, Nanticoke, Pa. (8). Julian Malavez, 130½, New York, outpointed Willie Bush, 132½, Palm Beach, Fla. (4). Pete Mancheo, 134, New York, outpointed Frankie Van, 132, Bayonne, N. J. (4). Tony Desalvo, 133½, New York, won from Joe E'Chavarria, 136, Puerto Rico (6). Dave Crawford, 135½, New York, defeated Ruby Garcia, 128, Puerto Rico, (6).

BIG NAME BOUT FOR NELSON, CHIMMY VICTOR

Frankie Nelson, Roxbury, called the "best looking colored middleweight since Tiger Flowers" by all the experts, moves into the danger zone next Friday at Mechanics Building when he squares off with Henry Chmielewski, Cambridge, in the 10-round feature of a Boston Boxing Association show.



Al Sforza

Chimmy, the Polish machine-gunner, is by no means a boxing master and Nelson will have the edge over him in this department. But Chimmy is one of the most severe hitters in the 160-pound division and Nelson may lie himself down for a long sleep if Chimmy tags him.

Nelson is a good hitter himself, striking solid damage with each mitt, and is an exceptionally clever boxer. Nelson showed his hitting power against Larry Kellum, whom he kayoed. Nelson had Kellum on the deck with both right and left-hand punches. He showed skill against the rugged Milo Theodorescu, annihilating the Rumanian refugee who hasn't hit the bobbing Nelson a good punch yet.

Matchmaker Jack O'Brien plans to bring in one of the outstanding middleweights in the land to fight Friday night's winner.

In the semi-final Al Sforza, North End, and Al Luciano, Lynn, who fought a blazing draw a few weeks ago, will punch it out again, hoping to reach a decision. O'Brien will announce the rest of the B. B. A. card tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—With rubber now rationed, winners of Madison Square Garden basketball games no longer will be permitted to retain the ball for their trophy chest. The 60-odd balls purchased for the present season cost approximately $1000.

CALIENTE SEEKS TO CUT ATTENDANCE

AQUA CALIENTE, Mex., Jan. 13 (AP)—The Baja California Jockey Club, which conducts weekly horse racing at this northern Mexico resort, is discontinuing its most popular feature to reduce attendance.

The public handicapping contest, which General Manager Walter C. Marty said accounted largely for the track's success, is being dropped to keep excessive crowds from the track in recognition of the danger to large congregations in event of air raids.

Also, Marty said, "Caliente has no desire to become a Mr. Big in racing. It plans to go along in the same modest fashion that has prevailed in the last three years."

Until recently Sunday racing drew an average attendance of about 5000 but since the war and resultant ban on large gatherings in California caused suspension of racing there, attendance has doubled.

Hollywood Wants Golfer Ben Hogan To Become Actor

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13 (AP)—Golf star Ben Hogan may become a motion picture actor.

Hollywood cinema producers watched his dramatic birdie on the eighteenth hole of the Los Angeles open, tying for the big prize, and renewed negotiations to get the Texas-born Hershey, Pa., pro into the movies.

Hogan, top money winner of the professional links ranks in 1942, already has taken a screen test.

The studio about ready to sign Hogan to a contract—and all the formalities were said to be nearly over—is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

MAY RETURN TO LEAGUE

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Jan. 13 (AP)—Alvin Butz, president of the Allentown club of the Inter-State Baseball League, said here that Allentown's return to the league for 1942 depended on efforts to secure a major league tie-up.

DARTMOUTH KEEPS SPORTS IN HIGH GEAR

HANOVER, N. H., Jan. 13 (AP)—A sports-as-usual plan has been outlined for Dartmouth in a four-point program announced by Athletic Director William McCarter. He also indicated he would attempt to arrange seasonable schedules for the college's summer term, which will start on May 25.

McCarter gave assurances that Dartmouth would fulfill its Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League commitments, even if its team had to continue its activities during the interval between the May 10th graduation day and the summer term opening, when the college will be closed.

He also stated that there would not be any changes in the current winter sports schedules, that spring sports would be revised without any curtailments to meet changes in the college calendar, that football and all other fall sports would be continued if circumstances permit and that summer sports programs would be inaugurated if arrangements could be made with other colleges.

Dartmouth, he added, already has made minor schedule changes to avoid conflicts with the advanced final examinations period.

Jones Hopes Nation Will Keep Sports Alive

ATLANTA, Jan. 13 (AP)—Bobby Jones, the former grand slam champion of golf, hopes the nation will keep sports alive.

"The competitive side of golf is not as important as keeping courses open," he says. "While working under forced draft, we need some relaxation. If you work hard and play a little, it helps in your work."

Jones plans to play in exhibition matches for the benefit of the Red Cross. He already has offered his services to the U. S. G. A.

Johnny Druze to Wed N. J. Girl on Jan. 24

Johnny Druze, former Boston College end coach and now assistant to Frank Leahy at Notre Dame, informed Boston friends today that he would be married Jan. 24 to Miss Rose Marie Stocki of Newark, N. J., at Sacred Heart of Jesus Church, Irvington, N. J.

Druze, a resident of Irvington, was one of the "Seven Blocks of Granite" on the Fordham football team and served under Leahy at B. C.

Four Teams Can Enter Hearst Shoot as League

Any organization having a membership large enough to divide into four teams can enter the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship competition as a league.

According to the rules of this great shoot, only league winners are eligible for the grand finals in May and the only stipulation is that there must be at least four teams in the league.

This point was clarified by Captain Louis E. Lutz, head of the board for the Hearst shoot in New England. The question came up when the Klean Kutt Rifle Club of East Jaffrey, N. H., entered four teams and requested that these teams make up a league in itself.

It was ruled perfectly permissible and any other club or organization may do the same if they wish.

Otherwise the clubs will have to be a regular league or have the board enter them in a league after the entries close on January 30.

Then, too, the shoot is not restricted to men. In fact Sargent College of physical education for women has entered two teams.

For any clarification of the rules write the Rifle Editor, care of this newspaper.

The Critics' Sewing Circle

THIS BUREAU has just about run out of things to say about Joe Louis. Almost as completely, indeed, as Joe himself has run out of satisfactory opponents. And he hasn't had too many of those from the beginning. Most of his critics must agree by now that the champion outclasses his field like Man o' War would outclass a bunch of selling platers.

One can attribute that either to Louis' superlative ability or the lack of ability on the part of the current crop of heavyweights and light heavyweights. You pays your money and you takes your chance.

"Who'd he ever lick?" is one of the oldest crys in the long history of prizefighting.

Frankly, it never made a great deal of sense to your correspondent. When a fellow has whipped everybody in sight that settles it so far as we are concerned. It scarcely seems cricket to ask him to go back and resurrect John Lawrence Sullivan, or Tom Cribb, and lick them. Besides which, the shades of those gentlemen might object to being disturbed.

Would no doubt object if the purpose for which they were being roused from their slumbers were made clear to them.

Because the story of Louis is currently a too-often-told tale and therefore quite probably boring to you cherished readers, we would have passed on to another subject today if a press release on our desk hadn't caught our eye as we sat down to indite this undying opus.

The release from Harry Markson, of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club's publicity staff, was intended as a "build down" for Louis as part of the job of building up Friday night's fight. It is quite possible that some of those quoted were lending their names to the ballyhoo for that eminently worthy cause.

For all of which I find the release interesting and figure you may also enjoy the comments of what might be called Joe's severest and most stubborn critics.

* * *

Well, Is it True?

THE page begins with a question: "Is it True What They Say About Louis?" and continues as follows:

FRED FULTON—"Joe Louis would have been a third rater in my day. I doubt that he would have lasted long as a sparring partner. Jack Dempsey would have bowled over Louis easily."

Now Mr. Fulton, who is not to be confused with the steamboat man, although he always loved a whistle, was slightly before my time in the Cauliflower Garden of Eden. But I seem to have a vague memory of his having been called "The Plastered Plasterer." Just a bon mot among the boys of fearless Freddie's day, no doubt.

However, diligent search of all the boxing records at hand discloses only one reference to Mr. Fulton. This comes under Jack Dempsey's record for the year 1918 and reads, "Knockouts—Fred Fulton 1."

The "one," of course, is the round in which the great gladiator who calls Louis a third rater and says he wouldn't have lasted long as a sparring patrner bit the dust.

No wonder Fulton has such a high regard for Dempsey. Jack made him an immortal. But let us get on to the next gentleman.

JACK DEMPSEY—"Confidence is half the battle. I'd have had that and knocked Louis out."

Perhaps 'ol Jawn is right. It's one man's opinion, anyhow. But it means just as much as if Jim Jeffries should suddenly burst out with a blood curdling defy in which he would claim that he would have made mincemeat of Dempsey and Tunney in the same evening. Elderly fathers are entitled to their dreams.

Let us be as fair, and at the same time as realistic as possible, and say that a fight between Louis and Dempsey, both in their prime, would have been a great fight. So far as I know, Joe himself never has suffered from any lack of quiet confidence.

GENE TUNNEY—"It's over 13 years since I retired from the heavyweight championship. But here's a challenge: If Joe Louis will start smoking, and promise to inhale a couple of packages of cigarettes every day for six months, I'll engage to lick him in 15 rounds."

Do you mean "reefers," Commander? And how about it if Joe should take a wee nippe of Scotche every day for six months, what then, my friend Gene? But as an aside, let me say that they tell me you are doing a grand job with the Navy, and we of the boxing world are proud of you.

JACK JOHNSON—"Louis doesn't have balance. His stance is wrong and, therefore, he doesn't punch correctly."

You'll remember Johnson, among other things, as a fighter of wonderful balance and poise. He was so well poised at all times that even when balanced on the flat of his back by Jess Willard in Havana, he carefully shaded his eyes from the hot Cuban sun.

JACK HURLEY—"Louis can't fight even yet."

I assume "Even Yet" must be a fighter in Hurley's string. Jack has had only one fighter, Billy Petrolle, a corker. Now he has among others, a colored heavyweight named Franklin. But I've always heard it said that lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place.

From Across the Bar

TONY GALENTO—"Joe Louis is still a bum."

Mine Host Galento gave out this epic interview while hidden under the bar of his quiet and homey little tavern in one of the Oranges of New Jersey. I can never tell the Oranges apart. But I can always recognize the cheerful and hospitable Tony; he's the watermelon.

LOU NOVA—"Louis doesn't his as hard as Max Baer."

Nova should know.

MAX SCHMELING—"He's a foul fighter. Louis is one of the most unsportsmanlike fighters I ever met."

No comment.

BUDDY BAER—"If Louis hadn't hit me after the bell in Washington, I'd have beaten him. I'll knock him out next time."

"Next time" was Friday night in Madison Square Garden.

Boxing Results

BIG NAME BOUT FOR NELSON, CHIMMY VICTOR

Frankie Nelson, Roxbury, called the "best looking colored middleweight since Tiger Flowers" by all the experts, moves into the danger zone next Friday at Mechanics Building when he squares off with Henry Chmielewski, Cambridge, in the 10-round feature of a Boston Boxing Association show.

Al Sforza

Chimmy, the Polish machine-gunner, is by no means a boxing master and Nelson will have the edge over him in this department. But Chimmy is one of the most severe hitters in the 160-pound division and Nelson may lie himself down for a long sleep if Chimmy tags him.

Nelson is a good hitter himself, striking solid damage with each mitt, and is an exceptionally clever boxer. Nelson showed his hitting power against Larry Kellum, whom he kayoed. Nelson had Kellum on the deck with both right and left-hand punches. He showed skill against the rugged Milo Theodorescu, annihilating the Rumanian refugee who hasn't hit the bobbing Nelson a good punch yet.

Matchmaker Jack O'Brien plans to bring in one of the outstanding middleweights in the land to fight Friday night's winner.

In the semi-final Al Sforza, North End, and Al Luciano, Lynn, who fought a blazing draw a few weeks ago, will punch it out again, hoping to reach a decision. O'Brien will announce the rest of the B. B. A. card tomorrow.

This Is America

—When a member of the Cabinet, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, is willing to share his plane with a stranded Army private, James E. Hughes. Lieut. W. Stinton flew them from New York to Washington. And this, too (at right), is America—When a member of the U. S. Supreme Court, Associate Justice William O. Douglas, will exchange his judicial robes for coasting garb and enjoy the sport with Bill, Jr.

This Is England
